CARROLL CO. SCHOOL BOARD IS REVERSED

Taneytown High School should not be consolidated with the Francis Scott Key High School in Carroll County, the State Board of Education ruled Wednesday.

In making the ruling, the state body said its reversal of the Carroll County School Board on the consolidation issue was "based entirely upon the procedure" used by the Carroll group.

In the future the county board could presumably consolidate the schools if it used proper procedure.

The consolidation originally would have become effective next September. However, the Carroll County board announced earlier in the month that it would operate Taneytown High School the next school year, at least.

ASSIGNMENTS NEEDED

Its decision may have resulted from an anticipation of the disposition of the state board, though it said it had to make teacher assignments for the coming year.

In its opinion Wednesday, the state board said the Carroll County school board announced in April, 1961, that it intended to continue operating Taneytown High School.

Then, in September, 1961, the Carroll County school board voted to consolidate Taneytown with the

E. G. C. Forrest, 87, Littlestown, Dies

Eddy G. C. Forrest, 87, Littlestown, died Wednesday at 9:15 p.m. at the Masonic Home at Elizabethtown where he had been a guest for the last three weeks. He was a retired businessman.

He was a son of the late Hamilton and Louisa (Kittmiller) Forrest. His wife, Jane Kilpatrick Forrest, died in 1926. One sister survives, Miss Emma Forrest, Littlestown.

Mr. Forrest was a member of the Centenary Methodist Church in Littlestown. He was a 32nd Degree Mason and belonged to Hamilton Lodge in Philadelphia. He was a member of the Chapter in Philadelphia and the Gettysburg Commandery and the Shrine of Philadelphia.

Funeral services on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Little Funeral Home, Littlestown, with his pastor, the Rev. William R. Jones, officiating. Interment in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Littlestown. Friends may call at the funeral home on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Wilbur S. Flook Dies Wednesday

Wilbur S. Flook, 75, died Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock as he was about to be transported to the Warner Hospital from his home on Gettysburg R. 6. He had been in ill health and under a physician's care for the last five years.

A son of the late William S. and Emma J. (Renn) Flook, he was born near Jefferson, Md., and had retired as a farmer about five years ago. He had been employed part time as a clerk in Lower's Store, Table Rock, for many years and more recently had been employed from time to time as a clerk at Jacobs Brothers Store, Lincoln Square.

Surviving are a son, George R. Flook, Gettysburg R. 6, with whom he resided; three grandchildren and a brother, J. Ridgely Flook, Jefferson.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the Dugan Funeral Home, Bendersville, with the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sternat officiating. Interment in the Biglerville Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home in Bendersville Friday evening after 7 o'clock.

RECOMMENDS DIVORCE

Attorney Paul F. Mower has filed his report in the Franklin County courts as master in the divorce suit filed by Wilbur F. Geisler, 29, Gettysburg R. 5, against Dorothy Sands Geisler, 28, of Baltimore. He recommended a divorce on grounds of indignities. The Geislers were married on December 4, 1954.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The Harney EUB Church will hold its annual Memorial service Sunday in the cemetery at 7 p.m., and at 7:30 p.m. in the church. Rev. Dr. Paul E. Horn will speak. Ray Christ will play the bells and accordion. The public is invited.

51 BROWNIES "FLY UP" AT CEREMONIES

Fifty-one members of three Gettysburg Brownie Troops advanced to Intermediate Girl Scout level at the annual "Fly-Up" ceremony held Wednesday evening at St. James Lutheran Church.

Each of the girls received a star, Brownie Wings and their Girl Scout pin. Representing the troops in the candlelight ceremony were Karen Steinberger, Susan Kerrigan and Kathy Rinehart of Troop 752; Linda Hailer, Debra Hetrick, Kathy Swiger and Debra Ketterman of Troop 962 and Dawn Spence, Sharon Bush and Cassie Weaner of Troop 958.

For the ceremony conducted under direction of Mrs. Walter Dillon, Susan Blosser of Troop 958 was announcer. For the opening flag ceremony Lois Crist and Nancy Deardorff of Troop 962 were flag bearers and Susan Johns, Troop 958 and Judy Boland, Troop 752 were guards. The program which also included the pledge of allegiance to the flag, closed with the singing of Taps.

The Scouts who advanced from Brownies to Girl Scouts were: Troop 752 led by Mrs. Allen McDonnell, Mrs. Ambrose and Mrs. Redding, Judy Boland, Patty Saylor, Kathy Rinehart, Karen Steinberger, Carol Weishaar, Susan Steunor, Debra Grot and Susan Kerrigan; Troop 958, led by Mrs. Philip Jones, Mrs. George Hikes, Mrs. Thomas Washburn and Mrs. Walter Dillon, Elaine Carbaugh. ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Mrs. James Teter, of Waynesboro, will give an illustrated talk on the Holy Land at a service Sunday night at 8 o'clock in Immaculate Conception Church of Christ, Emmitsburg. Dr. and Mrs. Teter toured the Middle East last summer. The slides include scenes in Egypt, Jordan and Israel.

An offering will be received. The public is invited.

FOREST FIRE FIGHTING CREW MAY BE FORMED

Arendtsville firemen are considering establishment of a forest fire fighting crew within their ranks.

Richard Hartman, Cashtown, a forest fire warden, outlined to the Arendtsville firemen at their meeting Tuesday evening, details of the work of forest fire fighting crews and said there is need for additional such units. This spring has been one of the worst in years for forest fires in the area, Hartman told the firemen. Most of the fires, he said, have been on the west side of the South Mountain chain rather than the eastern side. He added that prevailing winds tend to make forest fires more dangerous on the western side of the mountains.

If the Arendtsville firemen decide to establish a forest fire crew, a crew chief would be appointed. He in turn will be responsible for organization of a crew of from six to 20 men. The crew would be supplied by the state with rakes and other fire fighting equipment designed especially for forest fires. If needed, the chief would be notified by state officials and in turn would round his crew and leave for the site to which he has been ordered.

CLASSES FOR DRIVERS

No final action was taken by the Arendtsville firemen pending next month's meeting when it is hoped additional members of the fire department will be present to hear details of the work. Twenty-one attended Tuesday's session.

Fire Chief Elliott Schlosser announced that classes will be held next month for all drivers to refresh them in operation of the trucks and pumps. After the classes, the drivers will be assigned to specific trucks and thereafter will drive that truck only. Schlosser said he would notify the drivers of the dates for the instruction.

President Wayne Criswell announced plans for a public card party May 25 at 8 p.m. at the fire house in Arendtsville. It was also announced that meetings during the summer will be held at 8 instead of 7:30 p.m.

Present Benefit Revue On June 16

A "Dance Revue of 1962" will be presented in the Gettysburg High School auditorium June 16 for the benefit of the Youth Center building fund, it was announced today.

The revue will be presented by the Hildegard Hamme School of Dance, under the sponsorship of the Youth Center. All the proceeds will go to the building fund.

The program will be divided into two parts, "Cavalcade of Dances" and "The Legend of Rip Van Winkle" in ballet.

The performers will range in age from 3 to 21 years. Tickets are available at $1 for adults and 40 cents for children at Bix-Sway Men and Boy's clothing store, high school students and at the box office the night of the performance.

ELECTED AT WAYNESBORO

Jack D. Hathaway, a graduate of Gettysburg College, and Mrs. Ruth I. Bushman, who will graduate from the college in June, were elected trustees Tuesday evening by the Waynesboro Area School Board at salaries of $4,200 each. Hathaway will teach social studies and Mrs. Bushman will instruct in English.

Everything Favorable For Carpenter's Flight Into Orbit On Saturday

By CHARLES STAFFORD

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Physical condition excellent and mental outlook bright, astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter swung into the final stage of preparations today for his high ride on the orbital trail.

Project Mercury officials said plans are progressing smoothly for a Saturday launch of the Navy lieutenant commander in his Aurora 7 spacecraft. But they are keeping a weather eye cocked the emergency landing area in the Atlantic Ocean east of Bermuda.

Seas were reported running 11 feet high Wednesday in the area where the spacecraft would land if it did not go into proper orbit and had to be brought down after separation from the Atlas booster.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Meanwhile, Dr. William Douglas said Carpenter, 37, and his backup pilot, Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr., are in top physical condition.

The 5-foot-10 1/2, 155-pound Carpenter, who worked as a bod carrier shortly before returning to the Navy 12 years ago, has always excelled in physical activity. A final dress rehearsal of the flight, which will follow Glenn's flight plan, was on schedule today for a simulated flight from lift-off to recovery.

Carpenter has been an explorer all his life, says his father, Malcolm Scott Carpenter Sr. At his home in Palmer Lake, Colo., the elder Carpenter recalled his son's first flight into space—as a year-old baby. The future astronaut climbed from his crib tumbled into space and hit head on a radiator. He has a small scar over his left eye to show for that outing.

TO WATCH ON TV

The elder Carpenter plans to watch his son's flight on television and said he is not especially worried about it.

Report 17 Killed When U.S. Plane Crashes In Africa; Space Flight Link

WASHINGTON AP)—A U.S. transport plane crashed today in Kenya on a mission connected with Project Mercury space flights, and the Air Force said first reports indicated all 17 persons aboard were killed.

The wreckage of the C130 was found on a mountain near Nairobi, to which the aircraft was en route.

It apparently burned on impact, the Air Force said.

Two helicopters from Nairobi had reached the scene.

NO NAMES AVAILABLE

The Air Force said that normally a C130 carries a crew of four. This would indicate the others were passengers.

No names were available immediately and the Air Force knew only that the flight was in connection with the forthcoming manned satellite flight.

At Cape Canaveral, a Project Mercury spokesman said the C130 was "a logistics plane—a supply plane—for the Nairobi-Kenya contingency site."

WON'T DELAY LAUNCH

"The Air Force tells us that it crashed at 3:27 a.m. EST while making an approach to the Nairobi air field," he said.

The spokesman said the plane was from the Evreux Air Base in France and was assigned to the 322nd Air Division.

Based on information available, he said, the crash would not affect plans to launch Malcolm Scott Carpenter into orbital flight Saturday.

A contingency site provides planes to search for the astronaut and his spacecraft if he comes down in an unscheduled landing area.

NOT NEAR TRACK STATION

The Nairobi station is not located near one of the 17 Mercury tracking stations, which maintain contact with an orbiting spacecraft. This reduces the likelihood that tracking personnel were aboard the C130, the spokesman indicated.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it had no information on who from the agency might have been aboard the plane.

NO ASTRONAUTS

None of the seven Mercury astronauts could have been aboard, however. In addition to Carpenter, Walter M. Schirra Jr., John H. Glenn Jr., and Virgil I. Grisom are at Cape Canaveral where they have been assigned duties to perform during the orbital flight.

Eisenhowers Meet GOP Chiefs Monday

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will meet with Republican congressional leaders next Monday at his farm to discuss a fresh statement of party principles the leaders are drafting.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., co-chairman of the 12-member group, said Wednesday Eisenhower invited the committee to his farm for an advisory conference on the statement.

The group hopes to have completed by June 1 what has been described as a "short, concise and affirmative" declaration to bring the party's 1962 platform up to date.

Countian Involved In Wednesday Crash

State police of the Chambersburg subdivision estimated damage to an automobile and a truck tractor-trailer at $250 in an accident at the intersection of Routes 30 and 406 at Fort Loudon Wednesday morning.

Police said an automobile driven by Jean M. Walker, 36, of Fort Loudon, was struck by a truck tractor-trailer driven by Merville L. Bard, Arendtsville, at the Fort Loudon intersection at 6:45 a.m. Wednesday.

Police reported the Walker car, moving north on Route 406, crossed the Lincoln Highway in front of the westbound truck.

STOCKS SKID

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market skidded lower under mounting selling pressure early this afternoon. Trading was slow.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.20 to 240.30 with industrials off 2.30, rails off .20 and utilities off .40.

The decline ate sharply into the gains racked up in the healthy recovery Monday and Tuesday.

1,800 Battle-Equipped Marines Landed Today In Bangkok To Stop Reds

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Battle-equipped American Marines landed in Thailand today, grimly determined to stay "as long as we are needed" to protect this friendly Southeast Asian kingdom from Communist aggression.

A task force of 1,800 Leathernecks in brown-green-blue camouflage uniforms came ashore at Bangkok, carrying bazookas, rifles, grenade-launchers and machine guns, ready for speedy air movement north to the jungle border facing Red rebels in neighboring Laos.

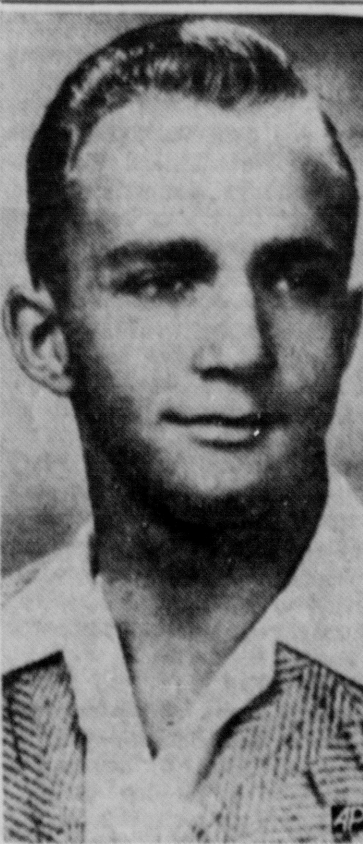

The United States' call on her Allies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization for a united stand in Thailand brought a quick response. Britain, Australia and New Zealand were reported ready to send at least token forces.

UNEASY QUIET

An uneasy quiet prevailed in adjoining Laos—potential flashpoint for a war that could spill over that country's borders. U.S. officials were hopeful that the American show of force would deter the so far victorious pro-Communist rebels and that the leaders

REGULAR TV ROLE MAY NOT BE REAL PLUM

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A regular role in a television series however attractive, is no plum for a performer who intends to spend his working life in the theater.

That is the conviction of a tall, red-haired actress named Jeanne Cooper, who as a freelance has performed in more than 200 different television roles and currently is a candidate for an "Emmy" award for her performance in an episode of ABC's "Ben Casey."

"That is particularly true for a woman," Miss Cooper continued earnestly. "Money can't compensate for experience when you are young."

EXPLAINS "TRAP"

"Some day you're going to reach 40, the lines will start to show—and after that it is ability that counts."

Miss Cooper's point about a television series being a performer's trap is this:

"You play one person over and over," she said.

"This is bad for the development of an actor—the only way to make native ability and talent grow is by stretching and exercising it."

Miss Cooper says she makes more money as a freelance performer than she would in a steady part.

NEW SATURDAY MENU

ABC has turned its Saturday evening 7:30-8:30 spot next fall over to Roy Rogers and Dale Evans for a Western-style variety hour. With the new Jackie Gleason show opposite on CBS, Jack Paar and Andy Williams coming onto NBC with variety shows and with Perry Como, Gary Moore, Mitch Miller, Dinah Shore and the Telephone Hour returning, it looks as if song, dance and comedy is scheduled to be next season's trend.

And now NBC will give us a half-hour Vic Damone program to replace "Hazel" for eight weeks in the late summer and early fall.

Recommended tonight: "Sing Along with Mitch," NBC, 10-11 (Eastern Daylight Time)—highlighting songs of Scotland.

TRADE SHOUTS
AT SALAN TRIAL

PARIS (AP)—Defense and prosecution attorneys shouted angrily across the courtroom today in the Raoul Salan treason trial as the defense tried to prove special French police were responsible for some of the violence in Algiers.

Prosecutor Andre Galvada cried "It's almost scandal! You're making politics!"

Bernard le Coroller, a Salan attorney, fired back: "You do not want justice!"

Ex-Gen. Salan, whose chest was once heavy with decorations, is on trial for his life for heading the European Secret Army Organization in Algeria and for his role in the April 1961 Algiers generals' putsch.

After several minutes of shouting by the attorneys, Charles Bonnet, red-robed president of the high military tribunal, pleaded: "We cannot go on like this. The trial would become a carnival."

He cautioned defense attorneys to limit questions to facts.

CAN INCREASE
U.S. EXPORTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States can substantially increase its exports if President Kennedy is granted broad new authority by Congress to negotiate tariff reductions.

"We must make concessions to get concessions," Rusk said. "That the President get the powers he has requested is essential to free world strength and unity and thus to the national security of the United States."

A bill carrying the powers Kennedy asked for sweeping tariff negotiating powers is now before Congress. Rusk discussed administration policy on the trade issue in a speech prepared for a meeting here of the conference on trade policy.

Kennedy will address the meeting tonight.

The conference is a bi-partisan group of about 100 business, labor, farm and consumer organizations having an interest in foreign trade. About 2,000 persons attended.

In another prepared address, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said farmers feel perhaps more keenly than any other group a need for Kennedy's trade program.

RENO, Nev. (AP)—There'll be a baseball doubleheader in Reno tonight—if the four inches of snow that covered the diamond Wednesday melts away.

The Reno Silver Sox and the San Jose Bees of the Class C California League had to postpone their series for the second night in a row because of the freak snowstorm Tuesday night.

ASSESS COSTS ON WITNESS

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A jury has found a cigar store operator innocent of selling numbers slips and directed the cost of prosecution be placed on a star witness for the Commonwealth.

George Denning of nearby St. Clair, a former policeman who runs a cigar store here, was found innocent Wednesday after a three-day trial on six counts of an indictment accusing him of selling numbers slips.

David Angst, Tamaqua, had testified that he purchased slips from Denning for about a year. He produced 65 slips he said he got from Denning. Angst said he hit once for $70.

Denning denied selling Angst the slips.

After three hours of deliberation the jury brought in its verdict and said Angst should pay the costs.

The Schuylkill County district attorney asked Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier to place the costs on the county instead. The jurist agreed.

COURT RULES FOR JOHN FINE

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Federal Judge Frederick V. Follmer ruled today that defense papers may not be used by the government as evidence in the tax evasion trial of former Gov. John S. Fine and Donald P. Morgan.

The judge's ruling was announced from the bench after a conference of nearly an hour in his chambers with attorneys for both sides.

The papers consist of scrap notes and penciled drafts of Fine's tax returns for 1955-56-57—years in which the government alleges the defendants attempted to evade $45,554 of Fine's income taxes.

The defense had the papers marked for identification while cross examining Fine's accountant, Paul J. Griesmer, at the start of the trial now entering its seventh day.

U.S. Army, Marine and Air Forces in Thailand will total about 5,000 men.

Lt. Gen. James L. Richardson, jungle warfare expert and deputy chief of U.S. Army forces in the Pacific, arrived in Saigon, South Viet Nam, on his way to Bangkok to take command of the American forces in Thailand. In Saigon he conferred with Gen. Paul D. Harkins, who heads U.S. forces in both Viet Nam and Thailand.

The American Marines and infantrymen are expected to be strung out along a 500-mile arc running from Udon, a town just below the Laotian capital of Vientiane, and east and south to Ubon, across from the southern part of Laos near Cambodia. Both Udon and Ubon have airports and are on rail lines to Bangkok.

The American invasion-by-invitation of this ancient land of Buddhist temples, smiling people and rich rice fields went off smoothly.

The swift action by President Kennedy in sending troops to stand by worried Thailand drew the approval of other nations in the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The first wave came ashore at daybreak.

With youthful Marines lining the railings, the Point Defiance and the Navarro steamed up Chao Phraya River to land them at Klong Toey with their battle equipment.

The first Marine ashore was Capt. Maurice H. Ivins, 35, of Chambersburg, Pa., a platoon commander. The leathernecks were quiet with little to say.

Heat, Snow, Heavy Rain,
Wind, Hail Hit Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

May went on a weather binge today, slapping parts of the country with a wild assortment that included midsummer heat, snow and heavy rain, wind and hail storms.

The spring heat wave, with temperatures in the 80s and 90s and high humidity, continued in many parts of the eastern half of the nation.

Strong winds, heavy rain and hail swept areas in Texas and the Southwest. Torrential rain totaling up to five inches sent a muddy torrent racing down a normally dry creek bed near Clarendon, Tex., and swept two persons from a pickup truck. One drowned and the other was missing.

8 INCHES OF RAIN

Rainfall estimated at 4 to 8 inches deluged farm country between Plainview and Hale Center, Tex.

A tenant farmer and three children suffered minor injuries when winds of 75 miles per hour toppled a small farm house near Lubbock, Tex. Twenty farms in the area were reported stripped of cotton crops by moth-ball size hail.

In the Southeast, three persons were injured as winds up to 90 m.p.h. lashed Mobile, Ala., during a rainstorm. Thunderstorms and strong winds were reported in other parts of Alabama and south Georgia.

7 INCHES OF SNOW

In the West, seven inches of wet snow fell in Reno and Sparks, Nev. Snow also was reported in mountain areas of New Mexico and Northern California.

In the Midwest heat belted, both Chicago and Detroit reported record high temperatures for the third straight day. Chicago's maximum was 94 while Detroit's 92 topped the previous high for May 16 by four degrees. Other record marks for the date included 90 in Syracuse, N.Y.

Fairly cool weather continued in much of the West with temperatures during the night and early morning in the 40-50 degree range. New England also was out of the hot weather belt.

2 ARE SLAIN
BY MENTALLY ILL NEPHEW

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—A former mental patient shot his aunt and uncle to death today, wounded their two small daughters and killed himself.

The slayer, Marvin Rosen, 29, set the family's $25,000 split-level home afire with bottles of gasoline.

Two explosions followed. A side of the house was blown out.

Slain by rifle shots were Albert Mittleman, 42, a lawyer; and his wife, Blanche, 39.

Their children—Lorraine, 14, and Michele, 13, wounded and dazed—were found stumbling in the yard as flames spread through the house.

The children were taken to Meadowbrook Hospital. There was no immediate report on how seriously they were wounded.

MOTIVES UNKNOWN

Neighbors rushed from their homes as they heard the explosions about 5 a.m. in the Mittleman home, where Rosen also had been living.

Police said they could not immediately determine Rosen's motive.

They said they smelled gasoline around the blazing house, and found bottles of gasoline in Rosen's car.

The bodies of Mittleman and his wife were found in the fire ruins.

Dr. Francis Moore, Nassau County assistant medical examiner, said Rosen had been under mental treatment at least twice in the past three years at Pilgrim State Hospital at Brentwood N.Y., east of here on Long Island.

Rosen's ailment was diagnosed as acute schizophrenia.

K-K EXCHANGE OF TV FLOPS

MOSCOW (AP)—White House press secretary Pierre Salinger today wound up a swing around the Soviet Union during which he collected Premier Khrushchev's views on crucial issues.

"We disagreed amiably," Salinger said when asked how the Russians responded to his plugging of American-style freedom of the press. But, he added, the talks were the most useful part of his trip except for two lengthy conversations with Khrushchev.

Salinger had hoped to make arrangements for an exchange of television interviews between President Kennedy and Khrushchev. However, he admitted over coffee at Ambassador Llewellyn "Thompson's" residence nothing much has come of this idea.

He arrived on the overnight train from Kiev and met with reporters before going on to inspect Moscow's television facilities and attend a Foreign Ministry luncheon.

Summing up what he told his Soviet hosts—who were led by Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government paper Izvestia and son-in-law of Khrushchev, Salinger said:

"I favor as many Soviet correspondents coming to our country as possible and as many American correspondents as possible coming here. The more that come and go from both sides, the better for understanding between the Soviet Union and the United States."

Salinger is due in New York Friday.

2 NOMINEES
TURN ANALYST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richardson Dilworth, Democrat, and William W. Scranton, Republican, today each analyzed Tuesday's statewide primary election.

Dilworth saw heavy campaign spending and a contest that "really frightened" the Republicans as reasons for Scranton's outpolling him in the governorship nomination races.

Scranton saw a weakness in Dilworth's vote he attributed to opposition within the Democratic party and sizable anti-Dilworth sentiment in the Democratic strongholds of Philadelphia and Allegheny County.

Scranton said in Washington his analysis of the primary provided "clear indications the GOP is on the march and determined to win in November." Scranton polled about 96,000 votes more than Dilworth, according to the latest returns.

The Republican gubernatorial nominee pointed to what he said was the largest primary victory ever given a Republican in his home Lackawanna County. He was impressed, too, with the Luzerne County GOP tally.

Father And Son Are Killed By Lightning

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The bodies of a father and son, killed by lightning, were found today in a wooded area on their small farm at nearby Duncansville R. 2.

Coroner D. Harold Troxell of Blair County said Frank G. Horvath, 57, and his son, Kenneth, 11, were struck by lightning while standing under a tree.

The Horvaths were searching for a lost cow Wednesday night in a rain storm. When they didn't return home Mrs. Horvath notified police and a search was begun.

BRITAIN WILL SEND PLANES

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced today Britain has decided to send Royal Air Force fighter units to Thailand if that Southeast Asian country asks for British military support.

Macmillan told the House of Commons that the government of Thailand thus far has made no formal request for assistance in the face of pro-Communist Pathet Lao pressures from neighboring Laos.

Answering a question from opposition Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell, the prime minister said: "If Thailand asks us for assistance in case of aggression, the question arises whether we and other allies should conform to their request. We have decided it would be right to do so."

HEARINGS INTO ESTES FRAUDS TO START SOON

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee meets today to order the start of public hearings—possibly late this month—on the explosive Billie Sol Estes case.

The subcommittee's staff is following a trail of evidence concerning alleged influence deals by the Texas financier.

Members of the subcommittee called it a foregone conclusion they would grant the request of Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., for authority to launch the hearings.

They said the closed-door meeting also would provide an opportunity to determine the extent of any possible partisan bickering in the inquiry.

Both McClellan and Sen. Karl E. Mundt, of South Dakota, the subcommittee's senior Republican member, have declared they hope partisanship will not be a problem.

CLOSED DOOR SESSIONS
McClellan and Mundt also teamed up in requesting the usual authority for the chairman to order bawdy or questionable witnesses to be quizzed in closed door session in advance of public hearings. They explained this is a precaution not used very often, but valuable in cases of witnesses who, as Mundt put it, seem prone to "spread a lot of names in the record without any evidence."

Both senators have said they want the hearings to be objective, with no punches pulled.

Since April 17 the subcommittee has had an expanded staff, now totaling 30, exploring the allegations of influence dealing which flowed from the indictment of Estes, 37, in Texas on fraud charges.

The Pecos man built a fortune of $50 million out of dealings in the government's farm program and an attempt to corner the ammonia fertilizer market in West Texas. His sprawling, intricate financial manipulations reportedly extended from coast to coast before they collapsed and he declared himself bankrupt.

Mundt said Estes surely would be called to testify in public hearings and might be questioned first in closed door session. He has been subpoenaed.

COEDS SMOKE PIPES

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — College girls are going in for the manly art of pipe smoking, says the proprietor of a smoke shop.

Sam Watkins says he has sold 100 pipes to women in the past three years, "mostly Douglass College coeds, I think."

CHERRY SPRAY

Cards calling for the first cover spray on sour cherries have been sent the fruitgrowers by Adams County Agent Frank S. Zettle. The spray is to be applied about 10 days after the shuck fall spray. Materials to be used per 100 gallons are two pounds of ferbam, one quart of glycol or two pounds of captan.

"Our American team values human life and they won't let the boys go up until every contingency imaginable is taken care of," he said.

In the final days before the launching, the astronaut and his backup pilot will switch to a low-residue diet to prepare their systems for a possible 4 hour and 45 minute flight.

Presumably, Carpenter will go into seclusion in Hangar S with only telephone contact with his pretty wife, Rene. The blonde mother of the four Carpenter children is staying at a private home in nearby Cocoa Beach.

REMAINS AT BASE

She came here earlier this week from the family home at Langley Air Force Base, Va. She said she prefers to watch the beginning of her husband's flight from the beach.

"There's nothing at all like it," she said, "to stand on the beach and see it go up — and the prayerful attitude of the crowd."

She will be the first of the astronauts' wives to be in the Cape area to watch her husband launched into space.

LEAVES ESTATE OF $1,270,264

HARRISBURG (AP) — The late Mrs. Alice Hay Wadsworth Boyd, daughter, wife and mother of famous American statesmen, left an estate valued at $1,270,264.

An appraisal of her fortune was filed Wednesday.

Mrs. Boyd was the daughter of John Hay, Abraham Lincoln's private secretary, and the wife of James W. Wadsworth, a speaker of the New York General Assembly and later a senator and House member.

Her son is James J. Wadsworth, ambassador to the United Nations under President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Boyd left one third of her estate, along with some property in Washington, to her daughter, Evelyn, wife of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

Her two sons, James, and Rev. J. Wadsworth, each receive trusts of one-sixth of the estate.

BERMUDIAN HI SENIORS GOING TO NEW YORK

The seniors of Bermudian Springs High School are going to New York City May 21, 22 and 23 on their class trip. They will stay at the Taft Hotel for two nights.

The trip will include an all-day guided tour of New York City. They will visit the United Nations building, Radio City, Empire State building, Statue of Liberty and many other places.

The students will see either a major league baseball game or a live TV program. The third day will include a cruise around Manhattan Island.

There are 23 girls and 24 boys going on the trip. Amos D. Meyer supervising principal; Clyde Kennedy, class advisor, and Mrs. Louise Morelock, the school nurse, will be the chaperons. Wolf's bus line is furnishing the transportation.

GOING TO "CONGRESS"

Four Bermudian Springs student are among those selected attend the 4-H Club Congress in June at Penn State University. Paul Mid-dour, Natalie Smith, Martha Hike and Cheryl Snyder, along with eight other members of the Adams County 4-H Senate, were chosen to attend the Congress.

High school students participate in a mock primary election on Tuesday, May 15. Using sample ballots supplied by the county commissioners and the superintendent of county schools, the students, under the supervision of their social studies teachers, seek to learn proper voting procedures.

In a recent class meeting, the Senior Class voted for two boys and two girls to be the recipients of the Babe Ruth and Danforth Awards. The awards are to be presented on the basis of sportsmanship, scholarship, character and leadership. The boy and girl placing highest in the voting will receive the Babe Ruth awards.

Next highest boy and girl will receive the Danforth awards.

RAIN WILL BE ALLY OF YANKS IN THAILAND

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rain will be an ally of American soldiers and Marines defending Thailand's Mekong River border from Communist penetration.

From now until mid-September, the almost daily rains will swell the already unfordable Mekong which forms most of Thailand's 1,000-mile boundary with Laos.

The Mekong, some 1,000 to 5,000 feet wide, is considered the last major physical barrier standing in the path of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao who dominate the heavily wooded ridges running much of the length of Laos. These ridges overlook plains extending to the Mekong.

The rainy season, now starting in Thailand, will hinder the American expedition in some ways.

WILL HURT YANKS

It is expected to hamper somewhat the operation of U.S. fighter bombers and other aircraft supporting the American infantrymen and Marines ranged along the frontier.

Also, the rains would cut down tank operations in the northeast plateau where the American forces are to be deployed.

Indications are that the American Marines and infantrymen probably will try to guard a roughly 500-mile arc.

The best defense line in this area is along the Mekong. To hold such a line, U.S. troops would have to enter Laos.

In this mountainous country, the Lao-Thai border is not clearly defined, although it generally follows the ridge line.

This wild hill terrain in the north can be infiltrated easily from either side.

THE WEATHER ELSEWHERE

and of thought. In their communistic setup they are faced with a real problem of motivation to get jobs finished. As the factories are government owned, workers lack incentive. So their government puts money into welfare and recreation funds, awarded to the factory with the top production figures.

She participated in a UNESCO Conference in Paris as a member of the Education Committee. After seeing other countries and talking to other peoples, Miss Adkins said she returned to teaching because she "realized and recognized what the young people are facing in the world ahead and wanted to have a part in their training so they would be better prepared to meet the needs ahead."

EARMARK DONATION
Mrs. A. W. Butterfield, first vice president and program chairman of the Gettysburg AAUW, said at the conclusion of Miss Adkins, talk: "As an expression of appreciation for your coming to us this evening the Gettysburg branch has voted to earmark its 1962 contribution to the general AAUW Fellowship Fund for the Bertha Sheppard Adkins Fellowship Fund." The fund was established by friends and associates of Miss Adkins upon her retirement from governmental service to honor her achievements in the fields of education, government and politics. The fund is designed to enable qualified women to pursue graduate study in the social sciences with particular emphasis on United States history, government and politics.

At the banquet Mrs. Robert A. MacAskill, recording secretary of the Gettysburg branch, gave the invocation and Mrs. Butterfield, who served as master of ceremonies, gave the welcome. A note was read from the retiring president, Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely, who was absent. Mrs. Back, president-elect of the Franklin County group, introduced the officers present.

Miss Anne Faber, fellowship chairman, announced the Gettysburg branch will sponsor a play at the Totem Pole Playhouse July 9. Tickets will be on sale shortly for the play, by Agatha Christie, entitled "The Unexpected Guest."

Mrs. Lott, the new president of the Gettysburg branch, spoke briefly. Mrs. J. Van Cleave Lott headed the decorations committee for the banquet while Mrs. James B. Myers was chairman of the reservations committee.

Brownie Troop 968 held its Mother's Day tea at the Christ Lutheran parish house Wednesday afternoon with 22 Brownies and 32 guests present. The Brownies greeted their mothers and escorted them to their seats, giving each one a hat which they had made. The hats were made of paper plates covered with pastel colors of tissue paper, topped with contrasting colors of roses made of tissue paper and tied under the chin with green ribbon. In the flag ceremony Vicky Unger was the caller; the flag bearers were Sandra Dayton and Sandra Rudisill and the color guards were Christine Thomas and Anne Jones.

A gift of a Brownie photograph album was presented to Sandra during the year. The girls presented an antique hat show, with each girl reciting a verse descriptive of the hat she modeled. As a finale each Brownie modeled her mother's hat which she had taken without her knowledge, as a surprise fashion show, reciting a poem descriptive of the surprise.

Following the show each Brownie escorted her mother to the tea table which bore a lace table cloth, a centerpiece of iris and bridal wreath. Punch and cookies were served with Mrs. Donald White, the leader, pouring.

new Francis Scott Key High School, seven miles south of Taneytown.

"The agenda for the meeting of the [Carroll] board . . . held on September 26, 1961, did not contain the question of consolidation . . . Nevertheless, in the absence of one member, the board decided to take this action," the state board said in its opinion.

$100,000 FOR RENOVATION
The Carroll County Commissioners appropriated $100,000 in 1959 for the renovation of the Taneytown school. Last November they reported that they would not have voted the money if they had not been assured the building would remain a high school.

According to the state opinion, a local board of education should study the desirability of consolidation and "should present its findings and recommendations to the general public."

The findings should include the educational advantages of consolidation, an estimate of the savings or extra expense, and the transportation arrangements.

Between the vote in September, 1961, and a public hearing in November, 1961, the Carroll board did not present its findings to the public, the state board said.

JUDGMENT OF PLAN DENIED
The state board said it recognized that the "laws of the state clearly impose upon a county board of education the obligation to consolidate schools when in its judgment it is wise to do so."

It added, though, that the state body has the legal responsibility of settling disputes and of advising local boards.

The state opinion said its reversal of the Carroll consolidation vote "in no sense constitutes a substitution of the judgment of the state board" for that of the county's.

HEARING IN MARCH
In March, Taneytown residents were given a hearing before the State Board of Education in Baltimore and they asked that the consolidation of Taneytown with Francis Scott Key be reversed.

They said Taneytown, with 2,000 residents, is the second largest town in the county (next to Westminster's 5,000) and deserves a high school of its own.

The Carroll County Board of Education argued that the new school has eight vacant classrooms.

All seven members of the state board voted for the reversal.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Sunday Trips Must Stop: Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson of the War Department said today that the rubber shortage was "so acute" that the time had come to stop "Sunday trips, visits to Cousin Joe and petting parties." As for vacations, Patterson said the forthcoming rationing of gasoline would go a long way toward taking care of that question. "There is no question of the seriousness of our present rubber situation if present driving habits continue," Patterson said. "Wasteful practices of the past must soon become only a memory. The time may come when some workers in war plants will have to have the benefit of tires now in use on private cars." Nine-eighth per cent of the nation's normal supplies of crude rubber come from the far east and are now cut off. While we have a substantial stockpile, military requirements have risen steadily as the scope of the conflict broadens.

Lieut. Frazee Commended: Lieutenant (jg) Murray B. Frazee, United States Navy, has received a commendation from Rear Admiral T. Withers, U. S. Navy, commander of submarines, Pacific Fleet, for his part in sinking three enemy ships, two armed merchant vessels and a patrol vessel. Some time ago the USS Grayback, one of Uncle Sam's mighty submarines, steamed out to sea in search of enemy ships in the broad Pacific. When the Grayback returned to port, after a long cruise, it had to its credit two armed merchant vessels totaling 11,500 tons and a patrol vessel of 260 tons. The sub also emerged, unscathed, from a severe depth charge attack "its crew in the best of health and spirits and had suffered no damage or injury to material or personnel." As the commissary officer and assistant engineer of the USS Grayback Lieut. Frazee's commendation stated "you contributed materially to the success of the mission." Lieut. Frazee is 26 years old. He is a son of Major and Mrs. Murray B. Frazee Sr., Baltimore Street. The young Naval officer was recently married to Miss Betty Swope, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. J. Donald Swope, West Broadway.

Sugar Registration Ends: 39,500 county residents are on sugar ration. On Thursday, the lightest day of registration, only 5,014 persons were listed and stamp books issued to 4,788 of them. Appreciation was expressed today for the services of volunteer helpers who aided Donald P. McPherson Jr., Esq., county rationing board chairman, and the two regular office staff members with the huge task of sorting some 200,000 forms used in the sugar rationing and in preparing for the gasoline rationing program next week. The list of helpers included John Bachensky, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wayne Weagly, S. G. Sollenberger, Mrs. Mark Stock and Joseph Sionaker. Mr. McPherson also praised the work of the school teachers and other registrars who helped with the registration work without pay. He thanked them and the telephone operators who handled a flood of calls to the rationing board office each evening as county totals were assembled.

Lost In Action: Ralph Morgan Deatrick, 24-year-old Gettysburg youth, was reported "lost in action" in a Navy department telegram received here Friday afternoon by his mother, Mrs. Amy Deatrick, Breidenbaugh Apts., Carlisle St. Deatrick, former local National Guard commander, now on defense work in Puerto Rico, is the first Adams countyan reported to have given his life in the service of his country in this war. The Navy Dept. gave no details but promised the lad's mother more information when that disclosure could not be of value to the enemy. She was requested not to disclose publicly the name of the ship on which he served.

Today's Talk

HE WHO COMMANDS

He who leads and commands is always an inspiring figure. In the first place, he is not an asker of favors, but a doer of deeds. As an employer, the man with ability to command, goes ahead and minds little the one behind or above. Money compensation is also secondary. His task is to raise standards, give birth to new ideas, or restrain those which lesser figures have let drop by the way.

The one who commands must have confidence in himself, must be a conservator of his health and energy, and must have the gift of vision. One of the sad defects of an all-judging world is indifference to greatness — which is but another expression for leadership. A great man always leaves a void in the world. But so long as he lives, people so often fail to note the space he fills. They may admire, and wonder at his renown, but not until he is gone do they feel the loss.

Most of us are followers. To command is something that is God given. And not all of us know whether we have this priceless inheritance until we go ahead and do something!

U. S. Grant was an obscure soldier who had scarcely passed his way through West Point, at the time of the outbreak of the Civil War. Not until he was given supreme command of the Union forces did the country come to feel his worth as a leader. And at the end he was a greater commander than ever as he told General Lee to keep his sword, and that his soldiers would need their horses to help rebuild what had been torn down.

The real commander inspires dignity and respect, even as he is imbued with the very soul of these qualities. And these are in-bred as well.

"Even the silence of an honest commander is respected. I have found no saying finer than this which I once came across, itself the saying of one of the greatest commanders of all times: 'A truly great man will rise superior to the events which he himself has brought about.'"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Vanity." Protected, 1962, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

FRIENDS

Friends are strange. You've got to make them. Long before the day you need them. There are gifts which you must take them. Such as books and let them read them. Flowers you've raised yourself, and maybe. Something pretty for the baby.

Friends aren't gathered in a minute. For the time you long to see one. Here's the fact and all that's in it: To have friends you've got to be one!

It's right now; not some tomorrow. Friends are gained to share your sorrow.

Friends are strange, however you take them! Here's the gospel truth about them: If you want them you must make them.

When you could get on without them. This is fixed and naught can swerve it! Who'd have friendship, must deserve it!

Rev. Herman Coming To U. The Rev. Stewart Winfield Herman Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Herman, Harrisburg, and graduate of the college here in 1930, is on the State Department list of U. S. officials, newspaper correspondents and officials of other American republics who are expected to return to the U. S. aboard the Swedish liner Drottningholm. The Rev. Mr. Herman also had served as an employee of the United States embassy in Berlin. The Drottningholm sailed from New York for Lisbon Thursday with 900 Axis citizens who had been interned in the United States and will bring back the Americans on the return voyage. The liner is scheduled to make a second round trip later for the same purpose.

DILWORTH HITS FAST PACE ON RACE IN FALL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richardson Dilworth has moved swiftly in his bid to become governor of Pennsylvania after winning the Democratic nomination in Tuesday's primary.

Dilworth met Wednesday in Hazleton with leaders of the Luzerne County Democratic party and later visited the offices of the Hazleton Standard Speaker and Radio Station WAZL.

He made no public appearances and it was not disclosed what was discussed among the leaders.

MEETS WITH WOMEN

The former Philadelphia mayor conferred with Atty. Edmund McCullough, Hazleton Democratic chairman; George Gyurko, legislative district chairman; Atty. Martin Cohn, Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Luzerne County's 20th Senatorial District; and William Bachman, Democratic assemblyman from Luzerne County.

Dilworth also met briefly with Mrs. Harriet McGeehan, an officer of the Hazleton League of Women Voters. Mrs. McGeehan said she planned to campaign for Dilworth in the fall.

During his visit to the newspaper, Dilworth repeated that as governor he would work for construction of the Keystone Shortway by its scheduled completion date of 1968 or sooner.

PRIMARY HELPED

Meanwhile, Dilworth's opponent next fall, Rep. William W. Scranton, who won the Republican nomination, attended a Temple University dinner in Philadelphia.

Scranton appeared at the dinner with the leaders of the two opposing Republican factions in Philadelphia—Dr. Robert L. Johnson of the Republican Alliance and Wilbur Hamilton of the regular Republican City Committee.

Scranton told a news conference the bitter primary battle between the two factions—in which the regular committee won all nominations—may have helped instead of hindered the party.

STIRRED INTEREST

"It stirred up a great amount of interest in the Republican Party," he said. "The party is better off now than it has been for years in Philadelphia."

Meanwhile, there were these other political developments around the state:

—Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse said the Democrats polled less than Republicans in the primary because the Democrats had less of a contest. Morse said the statement on the heels of a statement by Republican Chairman George I. Bloom claiming Dilworth "showed his weakness as a candidate" by capturing only 72 per cent of the Democratic vote. Scranton polled about 78 per cent of the GOP vote.

"DISTRICT LOSS"

—Veteran Republican Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, who was upset in the 24th Congressional District by Dr. James D. Weaver of Erie, said in Washington: "I didn't lose, my district did."

The total count for the district's three counties of Erie, Crawford, and Mercer gave Weaver 22,272 against 20,991 for Kearns. Kearns said he had made no decision on whether to ask for a recount.

As for his future plans, Kearns said he has many things in mind but at this point "I feel like Horatio Alger starting on a new career."

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Winningest football coach in Lehigh University's history is William B. Leckonby. His teams won 85 games and lost only 53 while playing 5 ties from 1946 through 1961.

responded like veterans," he said. "Without orders they piled out of the barracks and poured machine gun and rifle fire into the low flying Jap planes that were machine-gunning their barracks and bombing Wheeler field a short mile away. The morale of the soldiers in Hawaii has been at its highest peak ever since December 7 and it's perfectly true that they are hoping the Japs will come back. In peace time the American soldier always has been a fine man, but in war he is magnificent." Mrs. Borleis is the former Miss Madeline Diehl of Gettysburg. Chaplain Borleis was in his quarters at Schofield barracks preparing for Sunday School about 8 o'clock the morning of December 7 when the attack broke. His residence was only about a half block from the 21st Infantry Barracks which were riddled with machine gun bullets.

BERKS COUNTY GOLFER WINS

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Luther Showaker of Conrad Weiser High School in Berks County won medal honors in the PIAA District 3 golf playoffs Wednesday, but it was a teammate who provided the most excitement.

Meanwhile, Showaker shot a 36-hole total of 153 on the 6,055-yard, par 71 course at the Hershey Country Club. He had a 76 in his first round and a 77 in the second.

He was one of eight to qualify for the PIAA golf championships at University Park May 26.

The others were Bruce Frace of Lancaster, Jake Inch of Central Dauphin, Steve Hopper of Camp Hill, Gene Strite of Hershey, Tim Rohan of Dallastown, Bob Draper of Manheim Twp., and Vinnie Pressel of York.

Wm. Scranton GOP Nominee For Governor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William Scranton might be called a political success in spite of himself. Reluctance characterized his two ventures into the hurly burly of the public arena.

Each time he insisted upon a basic condition—that no major opposition be raised against him in the primary. Office-seekers generally aren't that outspoken, for such stipulations often have raised a hue and cry of dictatorship. It was just the opposite with Scranton.

Once committed to a political race, this man with millions, an illustrious Pennsylvania name and a patrician background, played for keeps.

FEARED 1960 RACE

Not for himself, he said, but for the people of his state, those he thought he could help.

He was not keen in 1960 to accept the Republican Party's nomination for Congress in Pennsylvania's Tenth District. He was even less keen this year to make himself available for the governorship nomination in his home state.

Two years ago he was content as special assistant to Christian Herter, then secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration. Persuaded at last to run for Congress, he soundly defeated the Democrat in office, Rep. Stanley Prokop. He even carried Scranton itself, long a Democratic stronghold.

LIKED CONGRESS

Thereafter, Scranton said he was happy to stay in the lower House and do all he could for the people back home. He felt his mission in Congress was not complete, that he could do more, if given the chance, to bolster the ailing economy of his constituent region.

He voted with Democrats to liberalize the Rules Committee membership, a prime objective of the Kennedy administration. He thought this might speed passage of legislation to relieve distressed areas.

The vote did his career no harm. On the contrary, he was named to the House Banking and Currency Committee, a berth he wanted because that committee handled the distressed areas aid bill.

ATHLETIC T PE

Scranton is an athletic 43, has a quiet, engaging personality, a knack of putting people at ease, and the ability to get things done without fuss or fangando.

His family gave its name to

JOHNSTON TO KEEP RUNNING

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The political unknown who cut sharply into Richardson Dilworth's vote total in Allegheny County in the Democratic gubernatorial race says he will run again in November, this time as an independent.

"The press and both political machines turned their big cannons on me, and I had only a pea-shooter," Harvey Johnston of suburban McKees Rocks said Wednesday. "The press said I was doing nothing in my campaign. Well, they're finding out what 'nothing' is."

Johnston, 56, a real estate and insurance agent, never has held public office. But he said his showing against Dilworth Tuesday makes him "doubly confident" that he will win next fall.

"I'm going through with this in a really big way now," he said, adding that he expects stronger support after his primary performance.

Crediting the strength of the issues he raised for his good showing, Johnston concluded: "People don't care about the candidate himself. If all they see is a man, they don't know what they're voting for. But people will vote on issues."

DINE FOR DIME

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The sign, "Boneless Chicken Dinner, 10 cents," appeared recently in a Nashville restaurant. Upon ordering the advertised dinner, a customer was served a hard-boiled egg.

Pennsylvania's fourth largest city, once the hard coal capital of the country. His mother, the late Mrs. Worthington Scranton, was vice chairman of the Republican National Committee from 1940 to 1944 and was Pennsylvania's GOP national committeewoman from 1928 to 1953. His father likewise was an active Republican.

Scranton is a graduate of Yale and of its law school. He served in World War II as an Air Force captain and a pilot in the Air Transport Command. He is married to the former Mary Lorne Chamberlain. They have four children.

Big Little Baseball League Opens Monday; Mayor Will Toss Ball

Gettysburg's Big-Little Baseball League will open its 1962 season Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the Recreation Park diamond when Phillips 66 opposes the Elks.

Mayor William G. Weaver will speak briefly and toss out the first ball.

Glenn L. Bream, league president, has requested that all players, in addition to those involved in the opening game, be present and wear their team caps as identification. They will line the first and third base foul lines for the opening ceremony.

Games will be played each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 6 o'clock with Thursdays being reserved for postponed games.

The league schedule follows:

Lincoln Speedway Opens Saturday

Lincoln Speedway, near Abbotstown, will inaugurate its 10th season of jalopy stock car racing Saturday with the green flag going down on the first race at 8 p.m.

The weekly slate for sportsman-modified and limited sportsman drivers will consist of two 10-lap heats and a 25-lap feature in each division.

Johnny Mackison is the defending modified title. He won 17 features, seven in a row at one stretch, to capture the 1961 championship by a wide margin.

Paul Keller will be defending limited sportsman honors. His chief competition is expected to come from Don Eisenhower, Rich Christine and Charley Wierman.

Lincoln has upper its seating capacity to 5,000 for the 1962 season. The half-mile dirt track has been worked into top shape for the inaugural card.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Augie Tammariello, assistant line coach at Penn State, has moved to the College of William and Mary where he will handle the interior line offensively and the defensive linebackers.

BIGLER TRACK SQUAD LOSES TO SCOTLAND

Biglerville High School concluded its regular track season on a sour note when it lost to Scotland 75-43 at Biglerville Wednesday evening.

Don Sterner's Cannons won three of five dual meets during the campaign and finished last in one triangular affair.

The Cannons won four first places against the Cadets. Phil Beidler took the 440-yard dash; Jim Oyer the low hurdles; the 880-yard relay team of Jeff Horick, John Byerly, Leroy Wetzel and Dick Guise, and the mile relay squad of Horick, George Montgomery, Leroy Wetzel and Phil Beidler.

NINE BULLET TRACKMEN IN 6TH MAC MEET

Nine Gettysburg College cindermen will compete in the sixth annual Middle Atlantic Conference track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J.

Lane Kneeder, a junior from Lansdale, is the lone point producer from last year's squad which finished seventh in a field of nine university division schools.

Kneeder tied with teammate Jack Russell in the high jump, clearing the bar at six feet. Kneeder has since recorded jumps of 6'2" three times during the 1962 campaign.

Coach Hal Glad will also be counting on Ed Salmon, 5'9" sophomore from Lemoyne, to place in the mile and two-mile runs. Salmon holds the school record in both events, covering the mile in 4:32.4 and the two-mile in 10:08.8.

Rodger Malehorn, Philadelphia, and Jim Lombardi, Montclair, N.J., are a pair of strong sophomores who could help the Bullets in the 880-yard run. Malehorn holds the school mark in that event registering 2:00.1. Senior Phil Wargo, Shamokin, and sophomore Harry Buzzard, Williamsport, carry Gettysburg's hopes in both hurdles.

Dick Clower, a junior from Roanoke, Va., will have his hands full in the javelin, competing against defending champion Harry Lund, Lafayette, Ark. Cummins, Bound Brook, N.J., and Bill Kester, Media, round out the Bullet roster. Cummins will take part in the 100 and 220-yard dashes while Kester will compete in the broad jump.

430 ENTRIES

A total of 430 entries from 23 colleges will compete. The program will begin at 2:45 p.m. Friday with the qualifying heats in the track events. Field events will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday and track semifinals and finals will begin at 2 p.m.

Defending conference champions are St. Joseph's of the MAC university division and West Chester of the college division. The meet has been divided into the two divisions since 1959.

Members of the first-place Bix-Sway team were awarded trophies and WBIC arm patches. They were Doris Lowery, Nicky George, Nancy Kranias, Ethel Hockensmith and Gladys Hefelinger. A sponsor trophy for that team was presented to Mrs. Gerald Bixler.

Trophies were awarded to the second-place team, Hershey's: Janice Smallwood, Mildred Cleaver, Romaine Geiselman, Laverne Reed and Jean Taylor; third-place team, Clark's TV: Alice Routstong, Dorothy Clark, Kathryn Pitzer, Phyllis Kime and Ruth Starner.

Individual trophies were awarded the following: High average, Gladys Hefelinger, 169; second high, Renie Hubbard, 166; third high, Laverne Reed, 156; high series, Ethel Hockensmith, 572; second, Phyllis Kime, 565; Shirley Kessel and Jean Taylor, 536; high single game, first, Jean Heiges, 233; second, Barbara Gorman, 222; third, Madeleine Stover, 213.

Ethel Goulden was given a brass plaque for the most improved bowler, having increased her average 12 pins.

The following officers were elected for the 1962-63 season: President, Jean Heiges; vice president, Laverne Reed; secretary, Phyllis Kime; treasurer, Ruth Wright; sergeant-at-arms, Betsy Weikert.

Freewheeling Giants Drop Cards Into 4th Place On Kuenn's Hit

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial got the big one. But Harvey Kuenn got THE big one.

And that's the story of another victory for the sizzling San Francisco Giants, who continued their headlong rush over all opposition Wednesday by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2 for their 17th victory in the last 20 games.

While the Cards were dropping into fourth place with their ninth defeat in 12 games, Musial, 41, snapped an 0-for-15 slump with a single in the sixth inning for the elusive hit that tied him with Honus Wagner for the most hits in National League history—3,430.

HOMER BY CEPEDA

The left-handed swinger had previously set two league career records this season—runs scored and games played—and now holds or shares 40 NL records and 13 major league marks.

Kuenn's key hit won it for the Giants. The former American League batting king upped his average to a league-leading .360 with the single that drove in Ed Bailey with the tie-breaking run in the seventh.

Orlando Cepeda then hit a three-run homer, his 10th, as the Giants erupted for five runs to wrap it up. The triumph kept San Francisco's lead at four games over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who won their seventh in eight games, 5-2 over Houston.

Cincinnati's defending champion Reds took over third place, 6½ games back, by nipping Philadelphia 6-5. Al McBean and Diomedes Olivo combined for a five-hit effort in Pittsburgh's 6-0 shutout of Milwaukee and the New York Mets beat Chicago's Cubs 6-5 in 11 innings.

The Cards got single runs off Juan Marichal (7-2) in the second and sixth, but he slammed the door thereafter. The Giants tied it in the sixth when Cepeda singled.

KOERNER IS TOP HURLER IN MAC LOOP

LaSalle shortstop Jim Ambrosius took the lead in batting in the Middle Atlantic Conference's university division this week after collecting nine hits in 19 trips to the plate for a .463 average.

'Bucknell leftfielder Ash Ditka ranks second in that department, hitting at an even 400 mark after collecting eight hits in 20 trips to the plate. Lafayette's Ralph Moyer is third with .385.

Gettysburg hurler Ted Koerner has won five conference games while losing none to rank at the top of the list in pitching statistics. Koerner has worked 45 innings and given up 35 hits and 15 bases on balls while striking out 31 batters. His earned run average is 1.97.

Lafayette's Don Eckenfelder ranks second in pitching with a record of 3-0 and an earned run average of 1.97, while Jim Knauff of LaSalle and Rusty Hood of Delaware have 2-0 records.

LaSalle tops the MAC university teams in batting with an average of .284. The Explorers have collected 52 hits in 183 times at bat, scored 36 runs and amassed eight stolen bases.

The Bullets, 1962 division champions, batted .253 as a team with three players being included in the top 10 hitters, King Gore, .375; Rick Taylor, .370, and Tom Perkins, .360.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Every now and then the Springfield Giants, last year's Eastern League champions, seem to be on their way to shaking an early season slump which has kept them buried near the cellar.

And the guy almost always leading the way is Dick Siomkowski. Too bad he can't pitch every day.

The big right-hander became the first pitcher in the EL to win four games this year when he defeated Elmira 5-1 Wednesday night by being tough in the clutch. The victory moved Springfield into a fourth place tie with York and only two games under the .500 mark.

In other games Charleston took over first place by a half game with a 4-3 victory over York while Binghamton beat Williamsport 5-2 to drop the Grays into second place.

Pitching—Dave Stenhouse, Senators, rookie right-hander limited Chicago White Sox to four singles and an unearned run in 3-1 victory that gave him third win since making first start 10 days ago.

Batting—Orlando Cepeda, Giants, and Stan Musial, Cardinals. Cepeda hit 10th homer and a double, driving in three runs and scoring two in 7-2 triumph over Cards. Musial got the 3,430th hit of his career, tying the National League record held by Honus Wagner.

VICTORIOUS TWINS MEET YANKS SOON

By JERRY GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Just wait till Harmon Killebrew starts hitting. The Minnesota Twins, on a victory binge with little help from their biggest slugger, invade New York Friday night for their first series with the Yankees.

And Sam Mele is a happy manager even though Killebrew is wallowing with a .198 batting average. After all, Vic Power, Lennie Green, Earl Battey and Mele's kids—Rich Rollins and Bernie Allen—are tearing the cover off the ball.

4-GAME STR-AK

The Twins, with a four-game winning streak and nine victories in 12 games are right in the thick of the American League race with the Yankees and Cleveland.

"The big difference is pitchers who'd been beating us regularly, both when we were in Washington and after we became the Twins, are now being beaten by us," said Mele. "That's because of the kids and power."

The Twins tore into Frank Lary and Jim Bunning, aces of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff, the past two days. Lary and Bunning are a couple of hurlers the old Senators and Twins of 1961 rarely defeated.

Led by Power's three singles and three RBI, the Twins amassed 15 hits off Bunning and two relievers in an 8-4 victory Wednesday.

Cannery Top Bubblers in Ninth, 11-9

After blowing an early lead, Biglerville High School scored twice in the top of the ninth inning to defeat Boiling Springs 11-9 on the Bubblers' field Wednesday for their third victory in 11 starts.

The score was knotted at 9-9 going into the second extra inning. Bill Slaybaugh led off with a walk and Randy Kuhn was safe on an error. The bases were loaded when John Ernest reached base on a fielder's choice after his sacrifice. After the next two batters were retired without a score, Roger Giberson singled to drive home Slaybaugh and Kuhn.

BIG FIRST FRAME

Dick Allison's Cannery rapped starter Ron Cornman for five runs in the opening inning. Gordon Harvey walked. Bill Slaybaugh doubled, Kuhn singled, Ernest walked, Bobby Bream singled, Paul Black doubled and Hildebrand tripled. On Hildebrand's triple Black was called out on an appeal play at third base for failing to touch the bag.

Cornman, who was relieved successfully by Ken Sholter and Less Putt in the middle innings, returned to the mound in the fifth and was eventually charged with the loss. Gary Fair, who pitched the final two innings for Biglerville, was the winner.

Today Biglerville was scheduled to play at Hanover in its final game.

Score by innings: 200 032-10
Lincoln 10, Sylvania 2
HR—Reese, Timmins; 3B—Timmins, W. Smith, Neiderer; SO—Timmins 13, Bennett 3, Kaffer 3, Wagner 1.

Pinson's Blow Wins for Reds

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vada Pinson, Cincinnati's speedy outfielder, had another feather in his cap today and more praise from manager Fred Hutchinson.

And well he deserved it. He won another game for the National League's defending champion Reds, their sixth victory in a row, which hoisted them into third place—a big climb after a miserable start this season.

Pinson, hitting .336 and leading the NL in homers with 12, belted a double in the ninth inning Wednesday night to drive in the run that gave the Reds a 6-5 come-from-behind decision over Philadelphia. The previous night Pinson collected a homer in a 3-2 victory over the Phillies.

Speaking of the Reds' recent surge, Hutchinson said, "He (Pinson) has played a very vital role."

MARIS IS INJURED

BOSTON (AP)—The extent of home run slugger Roger Maris' injury won't be known until the New York Yankees take the field against the Boston Red Sox today.

Maris, who set the record of 61 homers for a 162-game schedule last season, was forced out of Wednesday night's game in the fifth inning because of a muscle pull on his upper left thigh. Maris apparently hurt himself leaping against the low bullpen wall in right field trying to pull down Carl Yastrzemski's home run.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

GOLFER BOWS OUT

Jim Baker, New Oxford High School golfer, failed to qualify for the finals in the District 3 PIAA tournament at Hershey Wednesday when he shot a first round of 98. The break-off score was set at 85.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal Manager Johnny Keane denied today his club had made an offer to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder George Altman.

Dave Stenhouse Of Lowly Senators Hottest Twirler In AL; Cools Off Chisox

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

In the helter-skelter scramble of the American League race it is not so surprising that the hottest pitcher of the moment is a rookie with the club stuck in last place—Dave Stenhouse of the Washington Senators.

The right-hander, 28, who waited eight seasons before his first big league start came along 11 days ago, scored impressively again Wednesday night with a four-hitter that cooled off the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Washington has won but seven games and the unbeaten Stenhouse has accounted for three of them in his starting assignments. The New Englander was touched for an unearned run by the White Sox in the first inning but checked them the rest of the way.

TRIBE WINS AGAIN

Cleveland protected its league lead by overcoming Kansas City 10-9 on John Romano's two-run homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth. New York and Minnesota stayed a half game behind with victories, the Yankees rallying for a 9-8 decision over Boston and the Twins clubbing Detroit 8-4. Los Angeles stopped Baltimore 3-1 behind the neat pitching of Ken McBride, Jack Spring and Ryne Duren.

Stenhouse, a graduate engineer from the University of Rhode Island, was a minor leaguer for seven seasons as a farmhand for the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds before the Reds dealt him to Washington this past winter.

The White Sox scored first last night on Jim King's three-base error of Luis Aparicio's deep fly and a sacrifice fly. But the Senators pulled even in their half of the first and pinned the loss on Early Wynn.

YANKS SNAP STREAK

Romano connected for his homer against Kansas City reliever Diego Segui on a 3-2 pitch, with Don Dillard on second and two out in Cleveland's ninth. Woodie Held and Willie Kirkland also had two-run homers for the Indians, while Chuck Essegian hit one with none on.

Mike Fournieles had two strikes on Mickey Mantle with two out in the Yankee ninth at Boston but the Bombers, trailing 7-6, staved off their fourth straight loss. Mantle finally walked, Yogi Berra singled, then Elton Howard and Bill Skowron put the Yankees ahead with singles off Dick Radatz. Clete Boyer followed with a double against the Boston rookie, making it 9-7.

MORSE SAYS HE WAS SHOCKED BY LIGHT VOTE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse said today the Democrats polled less votes than Republicans in Tuesday's primary election because the Democrats had less of a contest.

"I was shocked at the small turnout, especially with such important offices at stake," Morse said. "It was a shame, but I think the lack of a primary contest had a lot to do with it."

Morse's remarks came on the heels of a statement Wednesday by his Republican counterpart, George I. Bloom, claiming Richardson Dilworth "showed his weakness as a candidate" by capturing only 72 per cent of the Democratic vote.

SEES GOP VICTORY

"U.S. Rep. William W. Scranton not only won our party nomination for governor overwhelmingly, but showed he will defeat Dilworth in November," Bloom declared in a statement.

Dilworth, selected as the Democratic candidate for governor, had 674,586 votes with 9,119 of the state's 9,157 precincts accounted for. A total of 888,770 votes were cast.

Scranton, on the other hand, had polled 732,172 of the 937,281 votes cast in 9,089 precincts—or approximately 78 per cent of the GOP

7 GOP VETS LOSE

Morse refused to comment directly on Bloom's statement, saying only that the GOP chairman "out to spend more time with his organization than his mimeograph machine."

The Democratic chief pointed specifically to the fact that seven of the eight incumbent state representatives knocked off in the primary were Republicans.

"That ought to mean something," he stated.

GOP incumbents defeated included Joseph R. Holliday and Harold G. Miller of Blair County, Francis A. Worley of Adams County, Dr. Thomas W. King Jr. of Butler County, Albert E. Strausser of Columbia County, Dr. John E. Whittaker of Lycoming County and Louis A. Pursley of Union County. Holliday and Pursley are county chairmen. Strausser was a former GOP county chairman.

CITES "PROTEST"

The lone Democrat to lose was Barnett G. Sakulsky of Westmoreland County.

Bloom, in his statement, made note that Dilworth's two primary opponents—Charles Schmitt of Girard and Harvey Johnston of McKees Rocks—received more votes than did Scranton's rival, J. Collins McSparran.

"The votes given these two independent Democratic candidates are clearly a protest on the part of the Democratic voters against having Dilworth, with the record of graft and corruption of his Philadelphia administration, forced on them by Gov. Lawrence and other Democratic bosses," Bloom said.

"Also significant is the fact that fewer Democrats took the time to vote on Tuesday, so that the combined vote of Dilworth and his two opponents ran well behind the Republican vote even though there are more Democrats than Republicans registered to vote."

"This was true in spite of the fact that the Lawrence administration sent 60,000 jobholders home to get out the vote."

Democrats went into the election with a 2,808,783 to 2,647,708 edge in registration. However, only about 30 per cent of the total showed up at the polls.

RECALLS GREEN VIEW

Democratic officials feel that a larger party vote would have given Dilworth a bigger margin.

In another statement released Wednesday, Walter Alessandrini, Scranton's campaign manager, echoed the comments made by Bloom.

"Dilworth is in trouble," he said. "Now we know (U.S. Rep.) Bill Green was right when he said that Dilworth can't win."

Green, the city chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic organization, originally was opposed to Dilworth's nomination, but offered his endorsement last week.

J. E. Van Zandt GOP Nominee For Senator

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—If there is one trait that can epitomize the life of U. S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt, the unopposed Republican candidate for senator, it is his affinity for military affairs.

The 64-year-old veteran legislator first gained prominence as a two-time commander of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars in the 1930s. He later served three terms as commander-in-chief of the national VFW prior to his initial election to Congress in 1938.

Van Zandt, currently in his 11th term, spent nearly 40 years in active or reserve military service. He was in combat in both world wars and Korea.

HAD ACTIVE DUTY

In World War II, he was the first congressman to report for active duty, rejoining the Navy six days after Pearl Harbor. And he officially gave up his congressional seat in September of 1943, although he quickly regained it in the 1946 election.

Just a little over a year ago, the Altoona native retired from the military with the rank of rear admiral. A the time of his retirement he was commander of the Capitol Hill Naval Reserve Battalion—quite a step for the recruit seaman who enlisted in 1917. He and his wife, the former Esther L. Meisenholder, have one son, James E. II.

HELD MANY POSTS

During his 21 years in Washington, Van Zandt has served on numerous standing, special and special and joint committees that have perpetuated this military proclivity—committees such as veterans affairs, armed services and atomic energy.

But despite his seeming preoccupation with the military, Van Zandt did not forget his constituents in Blair, Centre and Clearfield counties, the 20th Congressional District. A moderate Republican, he has consistently voted legislation beneficial to coal and railroad industries, key businesses in his district.

WORKED FOR PENNSY

Prior to his political career, he worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., starting as a molder apprentice in the Altoona shops and rising to district passenger agent.

Van Zandt was born, raised and educated in Altoona and still makes his home there. He holds an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Rider College, Trenton, N. J., and belongs to several fraternal organizations.

Under this year's reapportionment, the counties in Van Zandt's district have been absorbed into other districts.

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Kunz thought something was wrong as she drove away from a Globe market in her pickup.

A strange car was following her very closely.

She drove three blocks and the car still was right behind her. Pulling over to investigate, she discovered she had been towing a car whose bumper had become lodged in a trailer hitch on the pickup.

MASTER PLAN FOR PSU WILL UP CAPACITY OF 14 CAMPUSES

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania State University outlined a broad, five-point master plan today, aimed at tripling the capacity of its 14 Commonwealth campuses by 1970.

University President Eric A. Walker said the program is designed to provide accommodations for 10,000 freshmen and sophomore level students.

Currently, only 3,500 such students can be enrolled at state campuses.

The plan is a vital part of the university's long-range program to accommodate 35,000 students by 1970, Walker explained.

The master plan calls for the following changes:

—Relocation of the present Allentown campus to Upper Bucks County to provide a more central location in one of the state's fastest growing regions. The new campus will accommodate commuting students from the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton complex as well as the growing suburban areas in Bucks and Montgomery counties.

MONT ALTO INVOLVED

—Expansion of Penn State's educational activities in the Harrisburg area.

—Conversion of the Mont Alto forestry campus to a Commonwealth campus.

—Consolidation of the Wilkes-Barre and Scranton centers into a single campus at Scranton to provide more efficient operation.

—Provision of associate degrees and the first two years of baccalaureate degree programs as needed.

NEED $12.8 MILLIONS

The greatly expanded system can be developed "well within the financial means of the Commonwealth," Walker declared.

He said $12.8 million would be needed over the next six years to develop the physical plants at the 14 campuses and to provide new classroom and academic buildings.

The master plan was prepared at the request of Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction for Pennsylvania and coordinating authority in the development of the state's master plan for higher education.

"In combination with other public higher institutions, the proposed development of the Commonwealth campus system will place both baccalaureate and technical institute programs within commuting range of 97 per cent of the Commonwealth's population," Walker said.

LONG RANGE STUDIES

Kenneth L. Holderman, coordinator of the Commonwealth campus system, said the plan is based on long-range population studies and assumes that enlarged and better facilities will attract a higher percentage of freshmen and sophomores to the Commonwealth campuses.

Holderman pointed out that, scholastically, students who have completed their first two years of the baccalaureate program at a Commonwealth campus usually fare as well during their junior and senior years as students who do all their work at the main campus.

The percentage graduating with honors is actually slightly higher for these who began work at the Commonwealth campus level, he added.

The Commonwealth campuses are located in Altoona, Behrend, Allentown, New Kensington, DuBois, Hazleton, McKeesport, Mont Alto, Ogontz, Pottsville, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Wyomissing, and York.

NEW DAM MAY OFFER AREA FOR REC PARK

CURWENSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A major recreation area around the Clearfield Interchange of the Keystone Highway could result from the Curwensville Dam, Pennsylvania's senior U. S. Senator says.

"The one thing lacking in this area, from a recreation standpoint, is large bodies of water, and that we are proceeding to remedy," Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said Wednesday at a luncheon preceding ground breaking ceremonies at the dam site.

"The Curwensville Dam will provide one such body of water. Other major centers of water-based recreation will be at the Kinzua Reservoir, in Warren County, and the Raystown Branch Dam, in Huntingdon County."

SEEKS DIVERSION

Nothing that the shortway would pass right through Clearfield County, Clark said.

"It is up to us to see to it that the traffic does not just stream by on its way between New York and Chicago but is diverted here to enjoy our incomparable scenery and recreation resources."

Speaking at the ceremonies, Maurice Goddard, State Secretary of Forests and Waters, called the dam "a vital step in the comprehensive development of the water resources in the Susquehanna River basin."

He said the dam would provide significant flood protection benefits at Curwensville, Clearfield, Renovo, Lock Haven, Jersey Shore, Williamsport and other downstream communities.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Laos is a symbol of America's dilemma in trying to get right-wing leaders in impoverished countries to give their people some tangible reason for preferring the West to Communism.

In Southeast Asia's landlocked Laos about 80 per cent of the 2 to 3 million people, mostly farmers, are illiterate. Life expectancy is about 40 years. They have a pathetically low standard of living.

Stories out of Laos repeatedly tell two things about the people:

They're gentle and also indifferent about who wins the struggle between the pro-Communist Pathet-Lao forces of Prince Souphanouvong and the pro-Western and U.S.-backed forces of Prince Boun Oum.

NEUTRAL GROUP

There is also a middle, neutral group led by Prince Souvanna Phouma.

It's no wonder the masses are indifferent. Being mostly illiterate, and never exposed to democracy or communism, they can know little about either.

To the West, communism may be an abomination. It can have no such meaning to the poverty-stricken Laotians, particularly if it promises a life better than the one they have, particularly since now they can expect to die young.

In short, there is a vast gulf between prince and peasant, between rich and poor. It is against this background that President Kennedy has to do business.

POOR WAR GROUND

Getting American forces directly involved in Laos is undoubtedly the last thing he wants. It would be a wretched country for war. Yet, in Communist hands Laos would have vital strategic value.

It borders on Red China, Viet Nam, Burma, Cambodia and Thailand. It's like a dagger, and in Communist hands would be, in the stomach of Southeast Asia an area that the United States is anxious to preserve from communism.

Kennedy is sending American forces into friendly, neighboring Thailand. The Communists can take this as a warning the Americans will move into Laos against them if they don't stop pushing there.

ANOTHER KOREA?

It's questionable he would send them in since Laos could then turn into another Korea, with Red China moving in from the north.

Kennedy's problem therefore is, as it has been since he took office, how to save Laos from being overrun by Communists and still avoid direct involvement.

He agreed with Premier Khrushchev last year to seek a middle ground: to set up a coalition government of the three princes representing the neutralists, the pro-Communists and the pro-Western groups.

But Kennedy ran into a rock in Prince Boun Oum, who would not join the coalition unless he could control the army and police in the new government. The others wouldn't go for it.

Boun Oum is said to fear that if there is a coalition government it will mean in the end complete victory for the Communists through gradual takeover of the whole government.

CAN'T STOP THEM

He's probably right. But it's certain the Communists will take over by direct force if he doesn't join the coalition—he can't stop them—unless the United States goes in to help him.

But, even though he had no place to go but out if he didn't join the coalition, he wouldn't budge. To try to budge him, the United States shut off economic help to him. He still stood pat.

Finally he pro-Communist Pathet-Lao struck again, breaking the truce brought about by Kennedy and Khrushchev.

If there is a coalition government eventually, and if then the Communists take over gradually, it will be an embarrassment for the United States.

But it wouldn't be quite as bad as if the United States just washed its hands of Laos altogether under Communist military pressure. The other pro-Western nations in Southeast Asia wouldn't then have much hope, either.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An errant bat had the bookworms batty for about an hour before he finally found sanctuary in a belfry.

The bat made his appearance in the Louisville Free Public Library, apparently coming out of the stack room. With a janitor and a page in hot pursuit, the bat cruised through the reference and catalog rooms and the lobby.

The posse finally got him outside and swear he was last seen heading for the belfry of a nearby church.

SNELL EYING MIRACLE MILE

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES (AP)—New Zealand's Peter Snell, the world's fastest miler, doesn't say it in so many words, but it was evident today the 23-year-old, curly topped young man is determined to defeat Oregon's Dyrrol Burleson in their "Miracle Mile" run in the Memorial Coliseum Relays Friday night.

Snell, who has a world record of 3:54.4 pending, was asked what his reaction was when he learned of the sudden entry of the University of Oregon senior in the race.

"It's fine," Snell replied without hesitation.

The 21-year-old Burleson, holder of the American record at 3:57.6, obviously was anxious to run against Snell.

"Yes, you're always anxious to meet the champ," the top U.S. miler told a newsman Wednesday night.

Burleson expressed embarrassment that one man had been almost ignored in the race. He referred to Jim Grelle, the third sub-four-minute mile man in the race. Grelle's best time is 3:59.9.

Snell declined to reveal what his strategy might be in the race and observed, "Often you change tactics during the race."

LAMAR, Miss. (AP)—B. L. Moor explained to his seventh grade class why the days are shorter in winter than in summer, then asked about it in a test.

"During the cold winter months," one of his scholars responded, "the days get cold and contract. In the summer time they get hot and expand."

MUSICAL FALLOUT

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A nuclear fallout shelter salesman was puzzled by the prospective buyer's interest in whether the shelter was soundproof.

Then the customer explained he was a clarinet player and was interested in a place to practice in the pre-dawn hours after he got off work.

TURMOIL AT WEST CHESTER
A College Regent Has A Public Trust
No State Appointment More Important

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.,
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

PENNSYLVANIA'S West Chester State College Board of Regents, with the enthusiastic cooperation of the dismissed president, Dr. Noel T. Stern, has created the most academic arched eyebrows of the current season.

An educator as unsympathetic toward boards in general as Dr. Stern appears to be perhaps should never have accepted the top job on any campus. On the other hand, West Chester's apparently invites neither sympathy nor confidence.

With the apparent conviction that "no college president ever had an ideal board of trustees," Dr. Stern nevertheless did accept the college presidency with such mental reservations and soon discovered, to quote him further, that "the West Chester Board is remarkable only in its distance from the ideal."

One gathers that a board member soon pressured him unduly into the employment of a line coach, assistant professor, who was so poor in English that he thought Machiavelli's "Prince" was a "novel."

AT THE RISK OF jeopardizing my own reputation for academic standards, that would not bother me too much. Nor would I lose sleep if an assistant professor of English could not diagram a roll-out from a split T to the flat zone for a cross field forward pass to the right half.

At the same time, Dr. Stern was right in resisting outright pressure as such purely because it was outright pressure. But was it pressure or merely the voluntary enthusiasm of a layman for a certain coach and his type of play? There is also the ethics question as to whether the young coach was soliciting and nursing the pressure.

It is not always easy to tell. But usually, somewhere in the negotiations, a face card turns up that tips the deal. In any event, the applicant's name and credentials should have been referred, along with all others, to the Athletic Committee for thorough checking and screening. A layman's enthusiasms, even though he be a board member, should not be prejudicial to a bona fide and ethically presented application.

Should the screening prove the line coach applicant to have been gentlemanly, sportsmanlike and the most complete master of the techniques of his job that allocated funds could buy, he should have been hired. Otherwise, no. Just what Dr. Stern's method of procedure was, he does not explain in his widely publicized charges.

IF JUST HALF what Dr. Stern further reports is accurate, however (and he is considered an honorable scholar and man of good purpose), the West Chester story is indeed sad, sordid and tragic.

According to Dr. Stern, refusal of college jobs for members of the Board of Trustees and attempted nepotism have been among West Chester problems. He reports:

"One West Chester State College trustee applied for two professorial jobs at the college — director of public relations and director of administration. Her nephew-in-law then applied for the director of administration. He was later appointed by the governor to the Board of Trustees. Neither candidate has adequate educational background. Thus, I politely refused their applications with the help of other board members."

CLEANING, maintenance and other service jobs on the campus at West Chester State College are political patronage plums, according to Dr. Stern. Moreover, the 160 campus job holders are required to make cash contributions to the political party.

In this connection, Dr. Stern further reports: "Local politicians were excited when I fired a painter who was partially blind, a tractor driver who had no fingers, a rapist working in the girls' dormitory, and a fireman who was subject to fits and who had a long record of assault and stabbing. One of the women board members pleaded at a board meeting for reinstatement of this employee."

THERE ARE intimations this Pennsylvania State College situation could spark a major political hassle in that state. That is seldom a satisfactory solution. It is the college, or colleges, their students and faculties who usually lose in such partisan "reforms" growing out of a close, bitter political campaign.

Report Sabotage Efforts In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police said Wednesday they are investigating a series of attempts to derail elevated trains.

Concrete blocks, used for road-making, have been laid across the tracks several nights recently, police said.

In all cases the obstructions were knocked aside, but some trains were damaged.

There are better, nonpartisan ways of achieving constructive, external reformation and internal cleansing. But no matter what reforms are instigated and in what manner, there is no substitute for highest quality appointments of unselfish, public spirited citizens to college and university boards.

POOR APPOINTMENTS can wreck the best and most carefully planned reorganizations. Good appointments can make even a poor system of controls look good.

No appointment within the power of a state governor is of more importance than that to a board of control for an institution, or institutions, of higher education. When unselfish, public spirited citizens begin refusing to donate of themselves in study, services and time unselfishly in behalf of the state colleges and universities, tax-supported higher education in America will have failed. American ideals in education cannot be achieved under European types of educational bureaucracy.

HOTEL STRIKE NOW INCLUDES 700 WORKERS

NEW YORK (AP)—It's cold cheese and tuna between plain old bread for guests at the famed and fancy Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where even the top brass are taking over sundry chores as the wildcat walkout by service help continues.

What started last Sunday as a waiters' dispute over tips has developed into a strike of chefs and helpers, chambermaids, bellhops, doormen, dishwashers and elevator operators—leaving hotel services to willing but inexperienced accountants, secretaries, clerical workers and executives.

The work stoppage swelled Wednesday to include almost 700 of the 1,800 employees.

HILTON TENDS BAR

Into the breach stepped Conrad Hilton, president of the Hilton Hotel chain, treasurer Frank Constantine, and national sales representative John Counts.

Hilton moved behind the bar in the Starlight Roof and poured a bourbon and water for Gov. Edwin L. McChesney of New Mexico. Constantine filled in as a waiter and later as a bartender.

Counts handled the emergency sandwich production line.

Only three of the Waldorf's 50 chefs were on duty. All seven of the hotel's public restaurants were shut down. Of four bars, only one was open.

GUESTS TOTE BAGS

The registered guests, about 1,600 of them, seemed to be taking it all in good humor. They toted their own bags and exchanged badinage with the lady bellhops and elevator operators, all of them recruited from other departments. Only about half the maids stayed on the job, slowing that service considerably.

The dispute is in the hands of an impartial arbitrator, who says it may be several days before a decision is reached.

Noting that the union employees have a no-strike contract, management said Wednesday it "cannot and will not condone wildcat stoppages."

TOWERS NOT AFFECTED

Not affected by the strike was the Waldorf Towers, the upper-level suites occupied by permanent residences by such notables as former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Its facilities are separate from the rest of the hotel.

Last Sunday night waiters in the grand ballroom walked out for 90 minutes in a protest against the plate-passing system for tips at some private banquets. They demanded an automatic 12 per cent tip on the hotel's receipts for each serving. Most tips at the hotel are handled in this manner, but some organizations do not arrange it that way, and waiters must pass the plate.

On Monday, the hotel dismissed eight waiters. Then hundreds of other employees walked out in sympathy, pledging not to return until the eight were reinstated.

Brad Yates, 208-pound sophomore from Amityville, N. Y., hopes to play a guard position for the Georgia Tech football team next fall.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

SUCCESS LADDER. This year's girl graduate should have little difficulty landing a job in her chosen field. In fact her services will be in demand, if she offers well-developed skills, a groomed appearance and an agreeable manner.

But once a job is yours, satisfaction in the work and the chance of advancement depend on how well you adhere to the accepted code of business conduct.

The first law is close, interested attention to duty. The second concerns your day-to-day appearance. You must maintain the same high level of grooming that helped to secure the job for you.

The third rule prescribes a constant increase in knowledge and ability. Actually if you stood still, you could not hope to succeed in the workaday world.

Finally, there is a set of regulations dealing with good business manners. Some of it may seem trivial. But often it is annoying trifles of conduct that blacklist a girl. Among offenses, these are the nadir:

Not owing up to mistakes . . . Letting someone else take the blame for your errors . . . Pre-tending you know the answers, instead of asking when you don't . . . Gossiping, flirting, chit-chatting or otherwise cheating on company time . . . Yielding to irritations or gloomy moods . . . Bringing personal problems to business, when business problems are enough for everyone.

In short, you streak to success when bring respect and consideration to a job.

Iris Blooming In Linganore Gardens

The annual iris festival at Linganore Gardens, Frederick, Md., is open to the public from dawn to dusk daily through Memorial Day. There is no admission charge. Linganore Gardens are located four miles east of Frederick on the Linganore Rd. To reach the gardens by auto, turn off U. S. Rt. 40 East onto Linganore Rd. and drive north three miles.

More than 200 varieties are featured in the iris display that shows the iris has come a long way from the purple "flags" in grandmother's garden. Hybridizers have improved form, size and color and now there are pinks, near blacks, apricots and true blues and many other shades in the "iris rainbow" there.

DEATHS

BALDWIN, N.Y. (AP)—Julia McMahon Loft, 77, who served as New York City deputy police commissioner in the 1920s, the second woman ever named to the post, died Wednesday. She was the widow of George W. Loft, owner of a candy store chain and onetime member of the House of Representatives.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—John M. Hogan, 51, an Associated Press photographer for 20 years, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack.

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Olga N. Watkins, 71, wife of former Associated Press newsman Charles D. (Doc) Watkins, died Wednesday. Watkins retired 11 years ago.

PHYSICIAN IS CHOSEN FOR KEARNS SEAT

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A physician with a political background is the Republican nominee for Congress from the 24th District.

Republicans in Mercer, Crawford and Erie counties picked Dr. James D. Weaver of Erie over veteran U. S. Representative Carroll D. Kearns for the GOP congressional nomination in the Tuesday primary.

Weaver, 41, has never held public office despite his excursions into the field of politics.

LOST IN SCHOOL RACE

He is a son of a former Republican leader, the late Forman Weaver. Dr. Weaver also worked for the party in state and national campaigns. He was chairman of the Pennsylvania Professional Committee for Eisenhower, Nixon and Duff in 1956.

In 1951, he ran for the school board in Erie but lost.

Weaver, a father of eight children ranging in age from two to 19, has been active in medical organizations. A graduate of Syracuse University and the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, he currently is a trustee and councilor of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

ERIE'S MAN OF YEAR

He has served as a vice president of the Pennsylvania Heart Association and president of the Erie County Heart Association. He was a captain in the Army Medical Corps.

Weaver was named man of the year in Erie in 1950, the same year that he served as president of the Erie Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Weaver campaigned on the theme that Kearns had neglected parts of his Congressional district, primarily Erie County.

Parkinson, of Harrisburg, president of the nonprofit PHIA. Parkinson said the youngster, born the same year as the Federal-State Highway Act, will make numerous appearances to "give impetus to the observance." Miss Beth PHIA has been busy posing with top government officials and stressing built-in safety in the states and national expanding highway program, according to PHIA president. Parkinson said Beth will appear at various PHIA functions, including the special Highway Week dinner of May 25 in Harrisburg.

A member of the Actors Studio and currently an associate of Broadway producer, Roger L. Stevens, Miss Lodge was last seen in Agatha Christie's mystery "The Mousetrap" at the Totem Pole. Miss Lodge is also on the teaching staff of the Herbert Berghof Studio in New York. The groom is a partner in the Chloridyne Chemical Company in New York.

YOUNG START TO PLAY HERSHEY

HERSHEY, Pa. — Jay (Dennis The Menace) North, television's famous young troublemaker, is the latest nationally-known entertainment figure to be booked for a personal appearance at Hershey Park's bandshell, according to an announcement made today by George W. Bartels, park manager.

Bartels said that the park, now in its 55th season, plans to continue its policy of presenting free Sunday and holiday bandshell concerts and shows featuring outstanding local and area organizations, and will also present artists of national and international prominence. One such group, the United States Air Force Band and Singing Sergeants, appeared for double concerts at the popular bandshell last Sunday, May 13. Les Paul and Mary Ford, famous recording stars, have been booked for personal appearances Sunday, May 27, and Sunday, August 19, along with Red McCarthy, his orchestra, and vocalists.

Jay North, scheduled for two appearances, Sunday, June 3, is a natural born actor. The young star of Screen Gems' new "Dennis The Menace" series has been play-acting a long time. He weighed 49 pounds when he was selected to portray the title role in the series based on the cartoonist Hank Ketcham's famous comic strip.

Fashion Fair Will Be Presented At Annual "Open House" At St. Joseph College Friday

Highlight of the annual Home Economics Open House at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Friday from 1 until 4:30 p.m. will be a "Fashion Fair" featuring wardrobes created by 26 student of the department. Three fashion shows will be staged during the Open House at 1:30, 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. in the home economics building on the campus.

During the Open House guided tours of the home economics building will be held, including visits to student displays of projects completed in class work in nutrition, costume design, and color and design. Various art displays and minikin wardrobes will feature the displays.

Paula Krause heads a refreshment committee of "Freshman Foods" students who will serve tea during the activities. Seniors will act as guides and juniors in residence in the home management house will escort tours of the facilities. Sophomores and juniors will model the fashion show.

WRITES COMMENTARY

General chairman for the "Fashion Fair" is Claire Baril, a junior from Silver Spring, Md. She will be assisted by Mary MacDonald, Silver Spring, and Mary Lou Murray, Long Island, N.Y., and Tina High, West Lawn, Pa.

The commentary for the fair was written by Claudette Coulon, a junior from Silver Spring, assisted by Joan Zoby, a sophomore from Norfolk, Va. Sandy Ringer, a junior from Mercersburg, Pa., Carol Leary, Richmond, Va., and Jackie Melroy, Haddonfield, N.J., both sophomores, created the setting for the "Fashion Fair."

Members of the home economics department directing the "Open House" activities are Sister Madeleine, department chairman, Sister Patricia, Sister Bernadette, Sister Georgia and Mrs. Ruth Dillon. The department offers a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics for teachers, dietitians and general home economics.

STUDENT MODELS

Student models for the "Fashion Fair" will be: The Misses Claire Baril, Claudette Coulon, Mary MacDonald, all of Silver Spring, Md.; Ellen Caulfield, Chevy Chase, Md.; Tina High, West Lawn, Pa.; Mary Lou Murray, Ocean Side, L.I., N.Y.; Sandy Ringer, Mercer,

DISQUALIFIED COLT FIGURES IN PREAKNESS

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The sun actually hasn't set on Sunrise County.

The dippy-do colt which was disqualified in both the Flamingo and the Wood Memorial for interference still is an important factor in the $150,000-added Preakness Saturday at old Pimlico.

Trainer Tommy Kelly, a Baltimore boy, will attest to this.

Two weeks ago Sunrise County was one of the top contenders for the Kentucky Derby. When Sir Gaylord bowed out with an injury the day before the Derby, Ridan became the favorite at $1.10 to $1, and Sunrise County was next at $2.80 to $1. Decidedly, of course, won, with Ridan third, and Sunrise County fifth.

Eleven 3-year-olds are expected to start in the 88th Preakness, with George A. Pope Jr.'s Decidedly, Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, and George D. Widener's Jaipur the three big colts to reckon with.

11 MAY START

Jaipur was held out of the Derby, pointing for the Preakness and then the final in the Triple Crown, the Belmont June 9.

"This is going to be the best race yet this season for 3-year-olds," said Kelly, a 43-year-old trainer who just missed in the Preakness last year with Globemaster.

Kelly admits the Preakness will be tough to crack for any horse, let alone Sunrise County, owned by Townsend B. Martin of Locust, N.J.

"I said it a year ago, and that's still true. There's no other race I'd rather win than this."

Toast of Carolina's tennis team is George Sokol, a stocky sophomore from Haverford, Pa.

DONATES FREE MEDICINES TO MANY NATIONS

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—A Korean waif, you might say, founded World Medical Relief, Inc., which has distributed free since 1953 an estimated $29 million worth of drugs and medical equipment to every continent—and on what still is a threadbare financial shoestring.

Mrs. L. G. Auberlin is World Medical Relief, and vice versa, and one of her proudest possessions is a copy of the late Dr. Tom Dooley's last book, "The Night They Burned the Mountain." Over the autograph of the physician who devoted his life to the people of Laos is this inscription: "To Mrs. L. Auberlin, with my warm gratitude for making so much of the 'good' in this book possible."

The Korean waif appeared on a television newscast with a chaplain who had adopted him and who pleaded for help for others like him.

SHE'S NONPAID PRESIDENT

Mrs. Auberlin saw it, "and something struck me to get some clothing and vitamins together," she did.

Now nine years later and at 65, Mrs. Auberlin, a Catholic, is dedicated to spending the rest of her life helping others as the full-time, nonpaid president of World Medical Relief, Inc.

Headquarters is a drafty, five-storyed Detroit warehouse that has a warmth all its own for those who labor there.

Among those who give their time in sorting and packing medicines and repairing and sorting surgical instruments and hospital equipment are retired pharmacists, accountants, doctors, truckers, dentists, nurses, housewives and others. Most give a day a week; some more.

"It rubs right off on you, this feeling of rendering service to people you'll never see," Mrs. Auberlin explains.

SIX FULL-TIME

World Medical Relief neither buys nor sells. It does, however, pay the six full-time employees, other than Mrs. Auberlin, it finds necessary to keep it running. They are:

A secretary, a crater and a helper, a truck driver, a drug room supervisor and a stock boy.

Mrs. Auberlin wishes others in other major cities would start operations patterned after hers. She'd be glad to pass on her experience and success formula, "because we're going to get buried by incoming stuff as word spreads, if others don't join us."

Her warehouse headquarters is jammed to the rafters, literally, and she says: "Materialwise we are billionaires, but financially we're paupers."

SALVAGED FROM DISCARDS

World Medical Relief, among other things, has equipped top-to-bottom a four-story orphanage in Korea and a 15-bed leper clinic in Karachi, Pakistan; sent the late Dr. Dooley 1,700 pounds of antibiotics in a single shipment; dispatched an iron lung to Korea that got there in the midst of a polio epidemic, and equipped a two-chair dental clinic in Royal Oak Twp., Mich., a poor, nearly all-Negro community, just over the Detroit city limits.

Enroute to Dr. Patricia Smith in Kontum, Viet Nam, is every-

Dick Dilworth Dem Nominee For Governor

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Richard Dilworth, a Marine fighter, has one burning political desire before retiring from public life: He wants to be governor of Pennsylvania.

A dedicated Democrat, the handsome, 63-year-old Dilworth tried once before—in 1950—to win the Keystone State's highest office and lost to John Fine by less than 86,000 votes.

Since then he's been elected district attorney and mayor of Philadelphia, joining with U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, to break 67 years of continuous Republican rule in Pennsylvania's biggest city.

SER'ED AS MAYOR

Dilworth, always wearing his trademark double-breasted suit, succeeded Clark as mayor when the latter successfully ran for the Senate. The two were running mates in 1949, when Dilworth was elected city treasurer, and Clark controller. Again in 1951, when they won the d.a. and mayor's posts. And now they are political sidekicks once more.

Dilworth, a prominent Philadelphia lawyer before he gave up thing she'll need to equip a 40-bed hospital.

World Medical Relief gets all its hospital and dental office supplies from discards, maybe obsolete by 1962 American standards but in the hands of missionary or jungle doctors literally life-savers.

Its medicines, and its ships bushels at a time, mostly come from drug company samples donated by physicians and separated into categories of what it's good for by volunteer pharmacists and the paid drug room supervisor.

HUSBAND HELPS

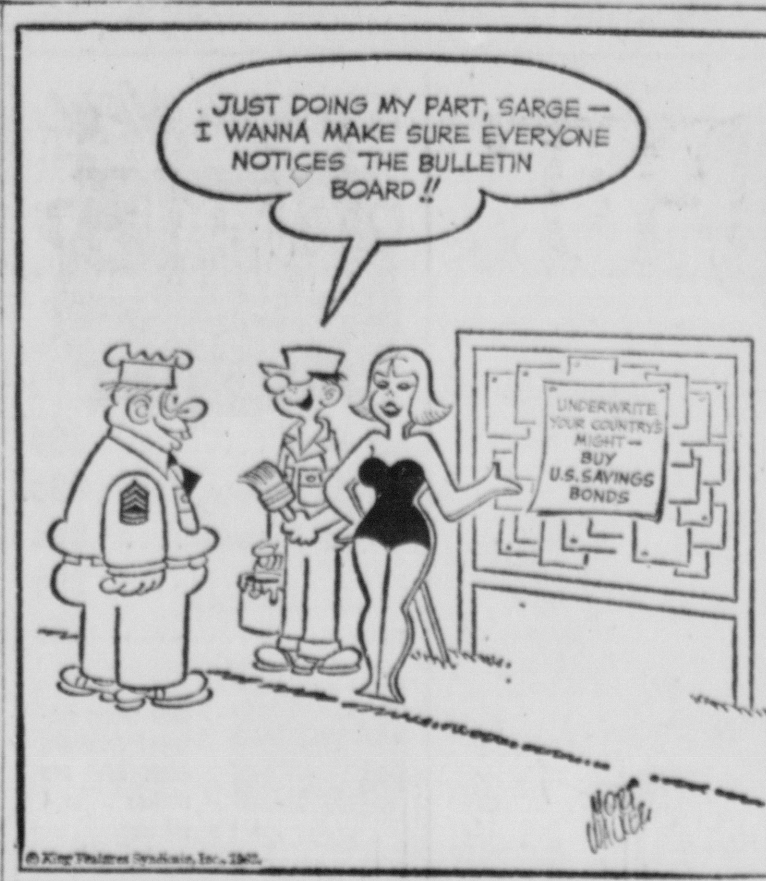

Among those who help Mrs. Auberlin put in the 10 to 11 hours daily, including Saturdays, is her 68-year-old husband, retired executive secretary of the Purchasing Agents Association of Detroit.

Cash keeps the operation going. In the year ended last June 30, in which shipments were valued at $10.7 million, she spent $23,900 and took in $21,039.

A little slopover in donations from the year before made this possible.

Things are so tight out-of-town donors are advised all donations must come freight-paid.

Today there are several truck drivers and trucking line executives at her beck and call. "When I need help bad," she says, "I just run my finger down the Yellow Pages of the phone book and seek without looking. I don't have to. I know I can count on that fellow or company."

private legal business for the public arena, never hesitates to speak his mind on any subject. He is the first to admit an error of judgment, but stands up strongly, even emotionally, for his principles.

PROUD OF WORK

He believes the program he and Clark evolved, and which reached massive fruition during his six years as mayor, has lifted Philadelphia into national prominence.

He is proud of what he describes as vast urban redevelopment, resurgence of commuter transportation, and broadening of health, welfare and recreational services.

He is known to battle critics, even in his own Democratic party.

"Where would this city be today if it didn't have emotional men who were willing to fight for it?" Dilworth asks.

Now, he says he wants to do the same for Pennsylvania, carrying on programs launched by Democratic governors George Leader and David Lawrence.

He claims to stand independently, supported by Democrats and many Republicans.

NOT OBLIGATED

"I have no obligations to anybody except the people of Pennsylvania and my own party," he said when endorsed by the organization two months ago.

Dilworth, an indefatigable campaigner, plans to carry his fight for the governorship to every corner of the Commonwealth. He describes his plans as a "walking campaign"—to travel down the streets and into the shopping centers.

He doesn't expect his fight to be easy, pointing out "this will be about as close an election as we've seen in this state in this century."

Dilworth, a graduate of Yale where he played football and pulled an oar on the varsity crew, worked in a steel mill in Pittsburgh—where he was born—and in the Oklahoma oil fields before he went into law.

As a student, like running-mate Clark, he was a Republican, but shifted to the Democratic cause in 1926.

He has been married twice and has eight children.

NEW YORK (AP)—J. I. Rodale, a nature food enthusiast who has twice tried his hand at message drama, is prescribing more humor for his own work.

Rodale withdrew "Toinette," a musical that was generally panned by press critics, to rework his criticism of doctors and medicine.

"What I'm trying to do is add 40 laughs to the show," he explicitly reports. A new production is planned when the revision is completed.

CAROLINE'S 2 PONIES NOT BEING CODDLED

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two ponies named Macaroni and Tex emerged as clean as hounds' teeth today from a charge they may be living in undemocratic luxury, with uniformed servants waiting on them.

The suspicion about Caroline Kennedy's small horses was voiced recently by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. When a bill to increase the uniformed White House police force from 170 to 250 men came up on the House floor he blocked it, at least temporarily.

He demanded assurances that policemen are not used as nursemaids for "the horses presently parked at the White House."

INDIGNANT DENIALS

Indignant denials came from the policemen.

"Suh," one officer told a newsman, "I'm a veteran of the Air Force and I never mess with horses. Nor do the other members of the police force."

It developed that, under a long-standing division of labor at the White House, horses and other members of the menagerie come under the jurisdiction of Robert Redmond, head gardener.

His platoon of experts include men wise in the needs of ponies as well as petunias. They can wield a deft fodder fork, and know just how to settle a pony for the night in the backyard stable.

NOT OFFICIAL RESIDENCE

As a matter of fact, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue is not the official residence of the ponies. Their permanent stables are at Glen Ora, the Kennedy country place in Virginia. But Macaroni often comes up to Washington by horse trailer, Tex less frequently.

If the two ponies created a bit of political stir, it is not the first time in White House history. The National Geographic Society recalls that equestrians in Congress raised a fuss when President Martin Van Buren spent $6,670 on stables and again when President Ulysses S. Grant spent $14,016.

Most presidents have been pet fanciers. But under Teddy Roosevelt, the White House resembled a zoo. Playmates for the children included cats, lizards, snakes, guinea pigs, kangaroos and an uncounted array of dogs, including Scamp, a rat terrier, and Mike, a bull terrier. One pony thought nothing of riding the elevator with the kids.

SUPPLY NEEDS OF DEFENDERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 5,000-man U.S. military task force building up in Thailand will use about 30 tons of supplies a day, even if there is no combat.

If action should start against Communist forces across the Thai border in Laos, the tonnage could double with ammunition expenditure and increased consumption of automotive and aircraft fuel.

The jungle and plateau country in which the Army battle group, the Marine battalion and the air units are taking up positions is out at the far end of a 9,000-mile long supply line from the U.S. mainland.

An Army spokesman said today that U.S. Army troops and Marine forces in Thailand will draw supplies from Army stocks in the Pacific area.

3 Supermarkets Get Exemptions

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three supermarket owners are free to conduct business on Sunday after being acquitted of charges of violating the state's Sunday food sales law.

Judge Benjamin Lencer of Allegheny County Court ruled Wednesday the supermarkets all come under at least one of the law's exemptions.

Acquitted were: Henry Verscharen, owner of supermarkets in Pittsburgh's South Hills suburbs; Martin Haines, owner of a nearby Pleasant Hills store; and Victor Pasula, operator of Payday Supermarket in Forward Twp.

Syracuse and George Washington football teams will meet for the first time on November 17 at Syracuse.

CURVED BARS FOR 26 GIRLS AT CEREMONY

The annual Court of Awards and observance commemorating the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in Littlestown took place on Tuesday evening in the Maple Ave. School auditorium, when 26 Girl Scouts received their Curved Bar award, the highest award attainable prior to entering the Senior Scout program.

Members of Troop 763, who completed the requirements for Curved Bar under the supervision of their leaders, Mrs. John Kump, Mrs. John Flickinger and Mrs. Edwin Elder, and whose mothers pinned the award on their uniform pockets were Margaret Mary Altoff, Carol Flickinger, Linda Keefe, Carolyn Kump, Barbara Muller, Barbara Pittenturf, Martha Ritter and Linda Smith. All of these girls with the exception of the latter have been in Scouting together for eight years, together with their leaders, Linda Smith has been with the troop for seven years.

Members of Troop 777, who were eligible for their Curved Bar and who were guided by their leaders Mrs. Chester S. Byers, Mrs. Clarence J. Krichen Jr. and Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, and whose mothers also pinned on the award, were Peggy Bair, Vicki Baker, Ruth Ann Benner, Linda Bittle, Linda Blocher, Dianne Byers, Thuria Hahn, Karen Krichen, Nannette Hood, Sally Mehring, Mary Lou Miller, Susan Oaster, Gaynelle Ritter, Linda Smith, Nancy Snyder, Linda Staub, Sandra Study and Jeanne Yealy; each of the girls received their seven-year star except Jeanne Yealy, who received a 6-year star.

Troop 777 was in charge of the opening flag ceremony for the court with Peggy Bair, Thuria Hahn, Mary Lou Miller, Jeanne Yealy and Linda Bittle participating. Each of the troop members received the conservation, personal health, home nurse and foods badge required for Curved Bar. Nannette Hood also received her clothing and seamstress badges and Jeanne Yealy, the mammal badge. Troop committee members for this group are Mrs. Fred F. Blocher and Mrs. Azel Smith.

Troop 746, leader, Miss Mary Rita Redding, and assistant Lorretta Bevenour, presented a humorous skit "Helps For Mothers" and they also sang "M-o-t-h-e-r." The assistant leader was invested and awards were presented as follows: 50th anniversary pins to all troop members; five-year pins to Syndia Buntz, Sylvia Eckenrode and Nancy Harner, who is also troop aide; rambler badge to Sandra Clabaugh, Joan Long, Cecelia Redding, Nancy Harner and Lisa Hoke; dabbler badge, Syndia Buntz; reptile and amphibian badge, Syndia Buntz; world pin, Pamela Hull, Linda Kress, Karen May, Bonnie Ozminski, Deborah Rohrbach; troop crest, Patricia Schuchart, Sandra Clabaugh, Joan Long, Norma Crabbs, Bonnie Ozminski, Pamela Ham, Karen May, Sylvia Eckenrode, Linda Kress, Cecelia Redding, Deborah Rohrbach, Joyce Oyler, Judy Mehring, Lisa Hoke, Jennifer Maitland; attendance stars to Sylvia Eckenrode, Judy Mehring, Syndia Buntz, Patricia Schuchart, Roberta Bevenour, Lisa Hoke, Cecelia Redding, Joan Long, Sandra Clabaugh, Norma Crabbs, Nancy Harner, Joyce Oyler and Deborah Rohrbach. Troop 746 committee includes Mrs. Joseph H. Redding, Mrs. Paul Buntz and Miss Naomi Sanders.

It was announced by the neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Ritter, who was general chairman, that day camp for Littlestown Scouts this year at Camp Happy Valley will be the week of June 25 to 29. It was also noted that both Brownie and Girl Scouts are eligible to march in the Memorial Day parade on May 28. Heretofore Brownies were not permitted to march in parades.

Mrs. Donald Fair, camp director, Gettysburg, and Mrs. E. J. Abenschein, member of the board of directors and chairman of the neighborhood service group in this location, Hanover, were present at the program and remained to attend the leaders' meeting which followed.

Creamed chicken takes to patty shells — but try giving the chicken extra interest by enriching the sauce with an egg yolk or two and some drained capers.

dra Rhoades; Second class, Peggy Chronister, Joyce Myers and Mickey Yealy; six-year attendance stars went to Alana Wastler, Cathy Stavely, Mary Jane Spalding, Carol Marker, Tina Reigle, Sandy Rhoades; five-year pins to Wanda Lightner, Beverly Hartlaub; four-year stars to Linda Moon; three-year stars to Rosalie Leese and Jeanne Benseel and two-year stars to Mickey Yealy, Peggy Chronister and Joyce Myers; dabbler and clothing badges were received by Jeanne Benseel, Peggy Chronister, Beverly Hartlaub, Linda Moon, Mary Jane Spalding, Cathy Stavely, Mickey Yealy, Joyce Myers and Sandra Rhoades; in addition Linda Moon and Sandra Rhoades received the cat and dog badge; Mary Jane Spalding, health aid; Cathy Stavely, child care; Jeanne Benseel, good grooming; Mickey Yealy, star, mammal and animal raiser; Beverly Hartlaub, drawing and painting.

"TWIST" IN PAJAMAS

Troop 784 presented two skits; the first a typical pajama party which included the twist with the participants: Sally Morelock, Deborah Rhoades, Donna Schaefer, Cynthia Feeser, Karen Worley, Wendy Arter with Billie Jo Baker as announcer; and "initiation cut-ups," with Mildred Bream as announcer, Jean Keefe and Jeanne Benner, nurses; Bonnie Ramsey and Sally Myers, father and mother; and Jane Keefe the child. Beverly Hess presented a vocal solo with Deborah Kammerer as piano accompanist. All members of the troop were presented with "My Country" and active citizen badges, by the leaders, Mrs. George Schaefer and Mrs. James O. Ramsey. Campcraft was earned by Deborah Kammerer, Deborah Rhoades, Jane Benner, Beverly Hess, Bonnie Ramsey, Sally Morelock, Donna Schaefer, Mildred Bream, Cynthia Feeser, Jean and Jane Keefe.

Reptile badge was earned by Karen Worley, Wendy Arter, Sally Myers, Bennie Ramsey, Deborah Kammerer and Deborah Rhoades. All members of the troop also received five-year pins except Bonnie Ramsey who received a four-year star and Karen Worley and Wendy Arter, one-year stars. Troop committee members are Mrs. Mahlon Feeser, Mrs. Harry Hess, Mrs. Charles Benner, Mrs. Howard Myers and Mrs. James Rhoades.

Troop 957, Mrs. Paul C. Mayers, Mrs. Thomas Craig and Mrs. Paul Hull, leaders, sang "John Brown's Flivver" and danced the Virginia reel. Stephanie Gall was announcer. Second class badges, the dabbler badge and membership stars were received by the entire troop, except Carol Louey who joined only recently. These awards went to Audrey Bair, Robbie Baker, Vickie Bowers, Carolyn Breighner, Melody Cluck, Sharon Craig, Stephanie Gall, Barbara Greason, Nadine Gentzler, Joann Hankey, Janis Hornberger, Sandra Hull, Christine Louey, Susan Mayers, Beth Soper, Jean Staley, Wanda Sentz, Kathy Weisel and Jill Weisman. The troop committee for 957 consists of Mrs. John Hankey, Mrs. Laverne Louey, Mrs. David Greason, Mrs. John Gentzler and Mrs. Robert Wiseman. Refreshments were served to over 200 persons in attendance by the girls of Troop 763.

It was announced by the neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Ritter, who was general chairman, that day camp for Littlestown Scouts this year at Camp Happy Valley will be the week of June 25 to 29. It was also noted that both Brownie and Girl Scouts are eligible to march in the Memorial Day parade on May 28. Heretofore Brownies were not permitted to march in parades.

Mrs. Donald Fair, camp director, Gettysburg, and Mrs. E. J. Abenschein, member of the board of directors and chairman of the neighborhood service group in this location, Hanover, were present at the program and remained to attend the leaders' meeting which followed.

Creamed chicken takes to patty shells — but try giving the chicken extra interest by enriching the sauce with an egg yolk or two and some drained capers.

CRAFTS CLUB HEARS ARTIST

Walter Boettcher, German artist, was the guest speaker at the May meeting of the Littlestown Arts and Crafts Club held on Monday evening in the social room of the Eagles Home, W. King St. The speaker told the group that he has been in this country for 30 years; studied painting, decorating and design for 12 years; has offices in New York City and Salt Lake City; has done decorating in over 700 churches and he and his nephew are presently doing the interior decorating in St. Aloysius Catholic Church. Along with his interesting and informative talk, Mr. Boettcher displayed some paintings which he had done. In concluding, Mr. Boettcher told the club "an artist has to have a religion of his own in order to capture a certain effect for church painting."

The business period was conducted in charge of Mrs. William T. Gingrow, president, who announced that the spring ceramic classes had been postponed to fall. Mrs. Bernard M. Seiby was appointed in charge of the club exhibit for the flea market being held by the New Oxford Chamber of Commerce on June 25. Mrs. William M. Ebaugh, secretary, gave her report.

The club meeting themes for the next six months were announced as follows: June, "Arts," A. Krape, Gettysburg, guest speaker; July, "Flower Arranging," Mrs. Paul V. Long, Mechanicsburg, guest speaker; August, outdoor gathering; September, "Hat Making"; October,

SALES OF PET MILK REVEAL MORE GROWTH

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The sales of Pet Milk Company for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1962, showed further growth over the all-time high achieved a year ago, but the company's earnings were somewhat below the record results of last year primarily due to expenses and market conditions which are not expected to recur in the current year, President Theodore R. Gamble announced today in a preliminary year-end report to stockholders. The report followed a meeting of the company's board of directors at which the board declared regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents per share of common stock and $1.12½ per share of preferred stock, both payable July 1, 1962, to stockholders of record June 6, 1962.

INCLUDE CHM FIRM

Consolidated net sales for fiscal 1962 were $237,800,000 as compared with $234,800,000 a year ago, and net income was $4,422,000 as compared with $4,964,000. After preferred dividends, earnings per share of common stock were $2.31 as compared with $2.60.

Sales and earnings for both years include the C. H. Musselman Company and the R. E. Funsten Company which were acquired by Pet in fiscal 1962 on a "pooling-of-interests" basis.

"We believe the past year was a period of sound progress for Pet Milk Company," Gamble said in his letter to stockholders.

"Musselman and Funsten are excellent additions to our product lines, providing sound diversification and strengthening our overall position in the food industry. Sego Liquid Diet Food moved into national distribution much more rapidly than we initially anticipated. Our results continued to benefit by the strong performance of the dairy division, and our Canadian division showed excellent progress."

Ceylon's First Woman Prime Minister Faces Critical Era In Social, Religious Reform

EDITOR'S NOTE: A year ago a retiring housewife took over the reigns of a Far Eastern nation in the midst of boiling political and social unrest. What kind of a job has she done? Here is a report on a woman prime minister's first critical year in office — and what may come of it.

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
COLOMBO Ceylon (AP) — The world's only woman prime minister, square-jawed and forceful looking without makeup or jewelry, took a seat in the distinguished visitors' gallery of Ceylon's Parliament.

Resting her chin and arms on the railing, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike looked down into the political cockpit of this troubled island nation in the Indian Ocean. Occasionally a benign smile lit her usually expressionless face as she watched her 30-year-old nephew, whom she had made finance minister, present the government's new budget.

He announced a number of extra taxes that stirred up a storm that is still swirling around the September, 1959.

His political party was left beset by corruption and bickering. Despite campaigning for it by his tearful widow, it dropped into second place in an indecisive election.

Another election was called.

DIDN'T WANT JOB

"I never wanted to be prime minister," Mrs. Bandaranaike recalled recently.

"I had no such ambitions. But when people prevailed upon me and deputations from the villages came pouring in day after day, I realized I had a great moral obligation to the people of this country especially the rural folk and peasantry which placed such faith and trust in me and the party and policies advocated by my late husband."

Mrs. Bandaranaike assumed nominal leadership of the party. Her campaigning for votes for her husband's memory — her opponents called her "The Weeping Widow" — plus an electoral alliance with the Communists and Trotskyites won the party a solid majority in Parliament.

Taking an appointive seat in the unimportant upper house of Parliament, Mrs. Bandaranaike became prime minister July 23, 1960. Like her husband she calls herself a Democratic Socialist. But unlike his compromising and temporizing with problems, she tends to be decisive.

PROMOTES HER NEPHEW

Her decisiveness is, however, limited by her experience to only a few fields like education and Buddhism. She lets her cabinet carry her along on most matters, answering criticism that the cabinet is composed of mediocrities by saying "a sturdy common sense" is more important than intellectual brilliance.

This has given the more aggressive members of the cabinet a chance to make their mark. The nephew, Finance Minister Felix Dias Bandaranaike, and trade minister I. B. Hangananne have done the most, one as his aunt's spokesman on many subjects and the other in leftist legislation.

These dynamic ministers have pushed Mrs. Bandaranaike into a position of being regarded by some as a mere figurehead. She denies it.

"I have a will of my own and mind of my own," she says. "I

ROYAL DANCERS—England's Queen Elizabeth II and Norway's King Olav V dance at silver wedding of Netherlands Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

Bandaranaike retired from public view and turned more to Buddhism, spending long hours in prayer and sitting before her husband's portrait.

NOT FEMININE GOVERNMENT

Now, as a sari-wrapped prime minister, she arises early to pray. She takes time to check her children's school clothes and approve meal plans — curry for lunch, western style dinners. She opens cabinet meetings with prayers.

Hers could not be called a government with a feminine touch, however. It has been too troubled for that.

Her husband stirred up Sinhalese Buddhist nationalism and her last political campaign brought it to fever pitch. Christian schools, such as the one she attended, have been so severely restricted that many are closing. Sinhala, the language of the Sinhalese, has become the only official language — although cabinet meetings are conducted in English, the only language known well by some ministers, including the nephew.

CONFIDENT OF FUTURE

These steps have alienated the influential Christian group and the sizeable Tamil Hindu minority. Many with needed talents are permanently leaving Ceylon. Tamil opposition to the language act created what Mrs. Bandaranaike called her most tense moment in the first year as prime minister, leading to declaration of an emergency and military occupation of Tamil areas. There is now a possibility of civil war.

But Mrs. Bandaranaike speaks confidently of the future. That might include her elevation to the ceremonial position of president of Ceylon if promised constitutional changes are carried out. As a rallying point for the majority of the island's people, Mrs. Bandaranaike has no rival.

But as the person who actually runs Ceylon she has, by her inexperience and willingness to be advised, shared her power in a way that can create future rivalries.

REPENTANCE, RETRIBUTION

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Thieves who swiped a 150-pound religious statue from the lawn of a Roman Catholic convent here apparently found it too heavy a load on their consciences.

A nun told police she saw two men returning the figure to the lawn under cover of darkness after it had been missing for a week.

30 DAYS HATH SEPTEMBER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John R. McIntosh of Phoenix was served with a civil summons dated Feb. 31, 1962.

TWO SIDES TO THE STORY

SPRINGVILLE, Ariz. (AP) — Catherine Fisher was furious when she found eight cows clopping across her recently planted lawn. She notified police and the animals were corralled in a city-owned lot.

That night her husband, Bob, said a crew of his construction company had knocked down a farm fence and eight cows had escaped.

"And on top of that," he said, "some old lady called the police and I have to pay $5 a head to get those cows out of city custody and back to the owner."

KENTUCKY MEANS PRAIRIE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The name Kentucky is derived from a Cherokee Indian word meaning prairie. Daniel Boone referred to the area as "Cuntucke, the great meadow."

IT GETS MONOTONOUS

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. Velma Lyall of Phoenix might as well quit golfing. She's accomplished the goal of most golfers — twice.

Mrs. Lyall shot holes-in-one on two consecutive days using the same club on the same hole.

Carpenter Is Calm As Orbital Flight Nears

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—As blast-off time for his orbital flight nears, astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter is reported going about the business of preparation with the thoroughness of a test pilot eager to try out a new plane.

He's as calm as John H. Glenn Jr. was in the days before his flight, a Project Mercury official said.

Carpenter is slated to ride an Atlas rocket into space between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Saturday. The flight is intended to follow the same three-orbit trail blazed by Glenn last Feb. 20 when he became the first American to orbit the globe.

EYE WEAVER

Officials are keeping a wary eye on the weather—especially a high pressure area creating high waves in the emergency recovery areas of the central and eastern Atlantic.

But experts say the weather threat is not serious at this time and that they expect conditions to be favorable by Saturday.

Carpenter and his backup pilot, Walter M. Schirra, Jr., are working closely on final preparations as flight day approaches. They are reviewing the flight plan and the numerous experiments and observations Carpenter is to make in space.

Technicians and engineers continue checks of the Atlas booster and two-ton "Aurora 7" spacecraft.

BIG CHECK TODAY

All are scheduled for a thorough coordinated check today with Carpenter in the capsule for a complete simulated mission.

Carpenter, 37, a Navy lieutenant commander, will attempt to expand on man's knowledge of space and how he can operate in it.

He is to perform many tasks which Glenn was unable to carry out because Glenn had to devote much of his flight to manual control of the capsule after the automatic control system developed a minor malfunction.

BUSINESS WORDS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Don't say "off season." Say "thrill season" or "economy season."

This can make all the difference in the world for a summer resort, G. Raymond Wood, executive director of the Southern New Jersey Development Council, told a civic group.

"The phrase 'off season' has an indication that there is nothing doing," he said.

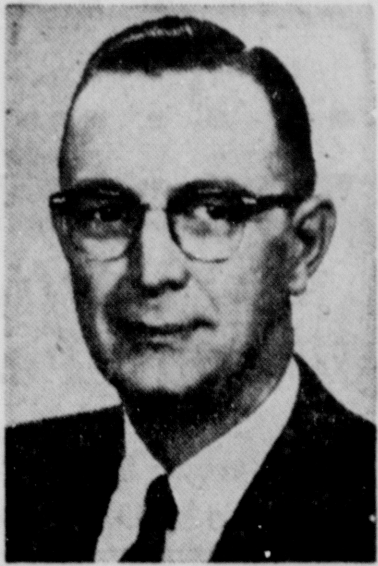

WIDENER HAS THREE GRAYS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three gray horses have been nominated for the $100,000 Widener to be run here at Hialeah Park, February 24. They are I. J. Collins' Derick, J. J. D'Agostino's Tudor Way and H. O. H. Freylichguy's Merry Ruler.

Lady Likes Job As RR Switchman

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Emily Ruth Mehrer, a spry little lady of 64, has been working on the railroad for 29 years and there's not one thought of retirement.

"There's still a magic to railroading, and there's still plenty to do,"

Mrs. Mehrer is a switch tower operator at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Pavonia yards in Camden, just across the Delaware River from Philadelphia.

She works a 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. shift, Monday through Friday, later to marry. Her husband, William Mehrer, naturally, a railroad man, worked 46 years as a freight conductor before retiring in 1959.

She went back on the tower control job in 1942 as a World War II replacement and stayed.

The buzzer in her tower perch sounds. "Okay 10-A," she barks into a telephone "You're cleared," then adds aside: "See, there's still plenty to do."

U.S. Faces A Difficult Issue In Southeast Asia With Reds Showing Steady Gain In Area

EDITOR'S NOTE — What is the outlook in Southeast Asia? Here is an appraisal from a correspondent who has worked in all three countries involved in the current crisis—Laos, Viet Nam and Thailand. The writer is chief of The Associated Press Bureau at Hong Kong. He is currently in the United States on home leave.

An AP News Analysis
By ROY ESSOYAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States has drawn two lines through the jungles, swamps and rugged mountains of politically explosive Southeast Asia.

One line is on the frontier of South Viet Nam. The other is on the frontier of Thailand.

There is a big gap between these lines, and they don't look too defensible. But the United States seemingly has little choice but to defend them if the advance of Communist forces is to be stopped in Southeast Asia at this late stage.

RUN BY ANTI-REDS

The lines have one slim factor in their favor. The areas behind them are run by anti-Communist governments that are still pro-Western.

Little landlocked Laos, the area in between the two lines, is a hole that could turn into a Communist corridor. But there are signs the U.S. government today regards Laos as indefensible.

For a year the United States has been trying to settle for a neutral coalition government in Laos. With two-thirds of the country overrun by pro-Communist forces, any such coalition will be heavily weighted in favor of the Communists. That seems to make a pro-Communist Laos almost inevitable eventually.

CITIZENS UNAWARE

"How did we get into such a mess? What are we doing in Southeast Asia anyway? And what can we salvage now?"

These are the questions the average American may ask, and cannot answer, although he is one of the most literate citizens in the world.

The average citizen of the three countries most directly affected—Laos, South Viet Nam and Thailand—lacks the foggiest idea of what's going on.

Laos, the most primitive of these three countries, has practically no telephones, hardly any roads. The people, except for a few hardy mountain tribesmen, are gentle, fun-loving and easy-going.

AVOID FIGHT

The last thing they want to do is fight. That is why they break and run when better disciplined pro-Communist guerrillas launch the smallest of offensives.

The people of South Viet Nam are as fun-loving and easygoing as their neighbors. They take their three-hour siestas, too, war or no war. They live in the tropics, so they have to.

American military advisers say the Viet Namese, who knew no English and hadn't handled a modern military weapon until a few years ago, are handling both with commendable ability today.

The United States got into the tangle in Southeast Asia the way it got into many East-West tangles.

EYE WEAK SPOTS

Communism is always probing for weak spots. Southeast Asia was a weak spot.

The West, lacking the relatively single-minded direction and control that Communist powers exercise, found itself on the defensive. It reacted as it has in the past, late.

The United States faces staggering physical problems, such as the terrain and lack of communications.

Most Southeast Asian nations are newly independent and jealous of sovereign rights. The U.S. role there is still technically advisory.

DIFFICULT QUESTION

The United States has put $2.5 billion into South Viet Nam in the last seven years under these conditions. And the strength of the pro-Communist forces has soared from 5,000 to 25,000 in the last two years, by U.S. estimate.

The question the United States has to solve is how to deal with a sovereign, independent ally and still get a job done.

There is a growing feeling on the scene that if the United States finds the answer to that question, it can still salvage what is left of Southeast Asia.

NOVICE GIVEN SURPRISE VOTE IN ALLEGHENY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Democrats in Allegheny County gave a surprising vote Tuesday to a political neophyte bidding for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Harvey F. Johnston, who never held any public office, picked up 53,128 votes against 114,310 for Richardson Dilworth, the party's choice for governor, in 1,242 of 1,255 precincts.

One of the key reasons for entering the gubernatorial race, said Johnston, was to drive out what he termed bossism.

Although a Democrat in political affiliation, Johnston claimed no alliance with any faction. But in Allegheny County the Democrats sometimes don't see eye-to-eye.

Gov. David L. Lawrence heads one faction; Dr. William D. McClelland, board chairman of the county commissioners, and Prothonotary David B. Roberts, the other.

McCLELLAND QUIT

McClelland, a dentist, withdrew as a potential candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination early in March after the state democratic organization endorsed Dilworth.

Said McClelland:

"Geographical balance is important, in my opinion in any state as large and as populous as Pennsylvania. The present party leadership had blandly ignored the potential danger ahead in making a candidate selections.

"For me to enter the race would only foment a primary contest of such magnitude that the party would be further weakened and perhaps splintered. I would rather not share the responsibility for that."

In the 1954 primary, McClelland backed the regular Democratic state in his bid for the gubernatorial nomination. He lost to George M. Leader of York County by about 66,000 votes but carried 22 western Pennsylvania counties.

Ever since he has persisted in throwing some roadblocks at the Lawrence faction in the Democratic party. Some Democrats apparently agree with McClelland and shared their views with token opposition against Dilworth.

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Although he retired in 1956 after 42 years in the Evangelical and Reformed Church ministry, the Rev. Otto J. Zechiel still is close to the ministry.

He fills some pulpits almost every Sunday. Two of his sons are ministers, a daughter is married to a minister and three other children are active in church work.

On The House

By ANDY LANG
The Associated Press

Some hints for the home owner: An easily made and inexpensive household item that the lady of the house will really appreciate can be made by the handyman in an evening or two. It's a lightweight cleaning stool on casters, made from a panel of sanded plywood. By putting in compartments on both sides for storage of often-used cleaning supplies, the portable unit will come in handy either for sitting-down cleaning chores or as a knee protector.

It can serve both purposes merely by placing a latex foam rubber pad on the seat of the stool. The rubber should be an inch and one-half thick and be covered with a vinyl fabric. For floor-cleaning tasks, the pad is slipped off the stool and used on the floor.

FIBERBOARD TILES

When putting fiberboard tiles on a ceiling, it usually is necessary to install furring strips to which the tiles can be stapled or nailed. Be sure to place the furring strips 12 inches apart on center; that is, 12 inches from the center of one strip to the center of the next. In that way you can use 12 by 12 tiles which can be fitted together in the center of each strip.

House gutters, whether of metal or wood, will last longer if given an asphalt-asbestos protective coating on the inside and a coat of paint on the outside. The gutters should be checked at least once a year to determine whether the pitch is correct for proper drainage, whether the fastenings are secure and to clear out all leaves, soot and other debris. If a down spout is clogged, it can be cleared with a weight attached to a rope or piece of wire.

WASHER IS LOOSE

When there appears to be a rumble in a pipe while a water faucet is turned on, the chances are that the washer is loose and needs replacing. But when a loud noise occurs only when the faucet is shut off, especially when it is shut off abruptly, it usually is a case of water hammer. This means that the air chambers at the fixtures have been clogged with water. Open a faucet at the lowest point in the piping system. All other faucets and valves should be open slightly. The water closets should be shut off and not flushed during this experiment.

This draining of the piping system will correct the condition most of the time. In extreme cases, it is necessary to install special shock absorbers at strategic points in the system, which requires professional attention.

INDOOR COW PASTURES

NEW YORK (AP)—Cow pastures of the future may grow on steel instead of soil, according to "Steel Facts," publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute. The soilless agriculture is achieved by using hydroponics, a method of using water, nutrient chemicals, proper light, temperature and humidity.

A farmer in Ohio is growing supplemental feed for his cattle on steel trays stacked in a steel building. He harvests part of his crop each day — it grows about an inch daily.

PROPHET WITHOUT HONOR

BALTIMORE (AP)—In a favorite restaurant on Fayette St., a visitor from the West asked if the place were a favorite of H. L. Mencken.

"I don't know," the waiter replied. "Does he play for the Colts or for the Orioles?"

ALL TAKE, NO GIVE

BALTIMORE (AP)—At the Internal Revenue Service literature counter, a taxpayer bought two 40-cent booklets entitled, "Your Federal Income Tax Guide" and "Tax Guide for Small Business."

Then he asked for a receipt, as proof of the 80-cent "business expense." The counter attendant refused saying, "We don't give receipts."

THE IMPORTANT THINGS

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A 7-year-old Des Moines boy handed his mother a list of telephone numbers and asked her to keep it for him "so the other kids won't get them."

The mother checked on the numbers and found that they were for a priest, a bank, a cab company and a television repairman.

HAPPY COINCIDENCE

SAN DIEGO (AP)—In answering a help-wanted ad, Val McCashen dialed the wrong number. He got Bill Sharp's Hillcrest Auto Supply. Turned out that Sharp did happen to need a man, though. McCashen was hired.

ALL BURNED UP

POWAY, Calif. (AP)—Clothesline thefts are old stuff to law officers, but clothesline arson — that's different.

That is what sheriff's deputies said when "Mrs. James W. Brown reported someone had set fire to her daughter's skirt hanging on the line. Even the clothespins were burned.

HEAD START ON HOMECOMING

TEMPLE, Ariz. (AP)—Rusty Marshall, 18, had a bang-up time while working on decorations for Arizona State University's homecoming.

Police said a hammer fell on his head.

Prospects For Federal Aid-To-Schools Bill Grow Dim After Defeat In Congress

EDITOR'S NOTE — Through the years, advocates of federal aid to education in Congress have fought many a dogged skirmish — and have usually lost. Once again, political observers say the prospect for legislation is near zero. Here's an informative report on the whys and wherefores of this prolonged offensive with few victories.

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Kennedy entered the White House last year, the prospects were strong that for the first time in history Congress would pass a bill providing financial aid for public schools.

Now even the most ardent supporters of such legislation fear it may be years before it can even seriously be considered in Congress again. Some are convinced it will never pass.

Such an abrupt and startling reversal in the fortunes of a measure that many consider vitally necessary has been widely interpreted as a major defeat for Kennedy.

But a study of the issues involved and the harrowing history of the legislation shows that only the most determined and persistent use of his full powers as President might have altered the outcome.

Kennedy used nothing approaching such pressure.

The fact is that bills to aid the public schools have been going down to defeat in Congress for 90 years. No President has ever made the kind of fight it would require to change the result.

THREE MAJOR ISSUES

From the first defeat in 1870 to last year's setback in the House Rules Committee, school bills have become entangled in three major issues, which, though varying in intensity from time to time, have remained basically unchanged. They are race, religion and federal control of education.

Up until World War II the question of federal control was probably the most effective in preventing passage of any public school bill and it is still the traditional ground of opposition among conservatives.

The ground became a bit less solid in 1948 when Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the Republican Party's leading conservative, cosponsored a major school bill, helped steer it through the Senate and, when the House failed to act, did it again in 1949.

The issue was further weakened by the enactment in 1950 of a bill authorizing payments to local school districts near federal property on which school children live, or their parents work. Under this "impacted areas" program nearly $2 billion has gone to build public schools and to pay teachers in one-third of the nation's school districts without much complaint of federal control.

OTHER ISSUES

As that issue faded, however, the others flared brighter. Taft's 1949 bill was amended in the House Education and Labor Committee to prohibit the use of any federal funds for transportation, text books or other such services to private schools, although several states permitted such payments.

The committee's action brought a strongly worded complaint from Francis Cardinal Spellman that the bill discriminated against parochial schools.

The same issue resulted in a bitter fight within the committee. Finally, those who felt the bill was discriminatory killed the measure by a vote of 13-12. Ken-nedly, then a freshman member, voted with the majority. So did another new member, Richard M. Nixon.

Taft's example had pretty well established Senate support for federal school aid and from then on all the major battles have been in the House.

POWELL AMENDMENT

By 1956 when the next big push was mounted, the Supreme Court's antisegregation decision had inflamed the racial issue.

In a wild session that saw the chairman of the Education and Labor Committee throw up his hands and stalk off the floor in the middle of debate, the House adopted an amendment by Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., to deny funds to segregated schools. Republicans, who had voted solidly to put the Powell Amendment in, then joined with Southern Democrats and defeated the bill.

The battle was renewed the next year, and after another riotous debate in which the Powell Amendment was adopted and the bill brought to the brink of defeat, the Democratic leadership accepted a suddenly offered Republican substitute. It was a bill President Eisenhower had endorsed in 1956 and, when the Democrats agreed to go along, passage seemed assured.

NO SUBSTITUTE

But before a vote could be taken on the substitute, Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee and leader of the Southern conservatives, offered a privileged motion that would have the effect of killing the original bill. On such a vote the issues were obscured and Republicans, who would have been embarrassed to vote against the Eisenhower bill, voted with Smith. The motion carried, 208-203, and there was nothing left to which a substitute could be offered.

A 15-15 tie vote in the Education and Labor Committee kept any school bill from coming to the floor in 1958, and in 1959 the Rules Committee blocked the biggest school bill yet proposed, a $900 million a year measure that had already passed the Senate.

The House then scaled its bill down to $325 million a year and squeezed it through the Rules Committee in the 1960 session.

That summer, for the first time, the House passed a school bill, but the rejoicing of its sponsors was short-lived. The vast difference between the House and Senate bills required a joint conference to work out a compromise and the rules committee — the Powell Amendment again having been added — refused to send the House bill to conference. Both bills died with the expiration of the session.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Despite this history, prospects were bright for a school bill early last year as a result of two beliefs: that Kennedy would provide the needed leadership, and that the rules committee's roadblock role had been ended by the addition of two administration Democrats after a celebrated battle.

Neither belief was borne out. Before Kennedy was inaugurated, he appointed a task force which recommended federal school aid, excluding parochial schools on grounds such aid would be unconstitutional. In his school aid message to Congress later, Kennedy again pointedly excluded parochial schools on constitutional grounds.

Meanwhile the Catholic Church was campaigning to have parochial schools included in any new bill. There has been much puzzlement expressed, even indirectly by Kennedy, that the church should lay such a heavy burden on the first Catholic president. But the basic reason was simple. This was the first time parochial schools had been excluded specifically for constitutional reasons — with which the Catholic hierarchy obviously did not agree.

COMPROMISE TIED

The education and labor committee tried to compromise on the issue last year, leaving parochial schools out of Kennedy's school bill but putting them in another measure which would permit parochial schools to make long-term, low-interest loans for nonreligious purposes.

However, like in 1949, a House committee — this time the rules committee — killed the bill by a one-vote margin.

Kennedy continues to call for a public school bill but there is no indication the House hears him and little likelihood it will act on its own. The religious issue, if anything, has intensified of late.

FIRMER STAND

Cardinal Spellman is taking an even firmer stand in favor of federal aid to parochial schools. And many Catholic members of Congress are now anxious to avoid being put on the spot by having to vote.

The most hopeful supporters of a school bill are now looking to the elections this fall and in 1964 to change the atmosphere, but such optimists are few. More share the view of Rep. Powell, now chairman of the education and labor committee, who said recently in a discussion of federal aid to education:

"I believe it is hopeless for a long time to come, regardless of which party is in power."

"Through the years a majority of members of the House have publicly stated they are in favor of it. But privately the majority is not."

ELM MEDICINE

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Tree inoculation may be the way to remedy — or prevent — tree disease.

So said Dr. Albert E. Dimond of the Connecticut Agricultural Station at a conference on Dutch elm disease control. He said one compound already has been found which, when painted on bark, will climb the water-carrying cells of elm trees. Researchers are now at work, he said on a compound which would permeate the tree with a chemical agent poisonous to the elm fungus.

Albie Pearson of the Los Angeles Angels made 7 hits in 14 trips in his team's first 1962 visit to Detroit. Six hits were doubles, the other a triple.

SAY BEATNIKS COULD BECOME FOLK SINGERS

By VIVIAN BROWN
NEW YORK (AP) — Beatniks are missing a big opportunity to become real singers, says blonde William Clawson, world-traveling balladeer, who recently performed at Carnegie Hall.

Any young person could have more fun with folk music if he'd learn how to sing it, he says. And it can be a lucrative career. Clawson is booked through 1964.

"American youths give a distorted opinion of a true folk song," says Ohioan Clawson. "Instead of sticking closely to the way the music is developed, they sing an Irish song or an old English song like an American popular song."

NO FOLK SINGER

Clawson is not a folk singer, he points out. Folk singers usually sing in one area, he says, never leaving their mountain top or whatever, whereas he is a troubadour and gathers his songs from every area of the world. It was on a recent visit to Greenwich Village coffee houses that Clawson observed the bearded boys strumming their guitars. They gave him the impression that they were a "little self-conscious about their songs," he says. "The first beatnik to sing in a true balladeer style is made," he says.

Old folk songs can be lovely romantic ballads, he explains — the right dish to serve up for a young group. But one should learn the music as it was developed. Once the origin and intent of this folk music is understood, it can be sung in a particular style, but always in the mood the writer may have had in mind.

Folk singing could be even more convincing if people could visit areas where the songs originated.

SINGS IN MANY DIALECTS

"City bobbies who want to sing folk songs in an ethnic way usually just sing words. How much more inspiring it would be to their set if they could put over the true meaning of those words," he says.

Folk singers usually have no contact with musical forms, he says. His songs are not songs he has originated, but adopted, arranged and embellished. His repertoire never runs low. Older people send him songs, saying it is a song their grandparents sang as they recollect it. A 94-year-old lady played piano and sang for him in Colombo.

SANDBURG ENCOURAGED HIM

A remarkable development in automatic, simplified, quick color printing from color negatives is announced by the Pavelle Corp., of Rockefeller Center, New York City. It permits amateur photographers to make slightly enlarged color prints at home without a darkroom with pushbutton ease. The process takes three minutes and requires no technical skill.

I watched a demonstration of the process at the firm's White Plains, N.Y., research lab just prior to its recent public unveiling at the photo trade show in Chicago. I bought my own color negatives and made my own color prints with a few moments' instruction.

The complete process, except for washing and drying, takes place in a plastic machine which resembles a slide projector. The machine's full name is the P-100 Automatic Daylight Color Printer-Processor. It has a front (processing) and rear (light source) compartment and a set of dials (computation) along the side.

REALLY COMPACT

The color negative fits in a negative holder in the rear compartment. The processing tray slides into the front compartment. There are two sections for only two chemical solutions: a color developer and a bleach-fix. A roll of special color printing material is also in the front compartment.

The P-100 is plugged into an electric outlet to start the machine working. Its brain is a miniature analog computer which analyzes a color negative and determines its color balance and exposure in a matter of seconds. This is done by turning three dials, one at a time, until a pointer on each dial is brought to a center point. Two of the dials select the proper color filter combinations and a third dial electronically gauges the proper exposure.

The selected exposure is timed while pressing a knob which turns on the enlarger lamp in the rear compartment — a standard photoflood. This exposes a fixed focus ish songs. "They say I sang before I spoke," he explains. He began singing songs of his mother's native Sweden when he was 1½ years old. He lives there now with his wife and child, but most of the time they are on tour.

It was Carl Sandburg who suggested he make a career of his music when the two met and played the guitar together years ago in Los Angeles. Sandburg said of him: "He is one of the most colorful and versatile singers and accomplished guitarists that I have ever heard."

enlargement on the special print material in the front compartment. Pressing another knob, in front sliced of the exposed print and starts it on its automatic route through the two processing solutions. At the end of three minutes the completed color print emerges through a groove in the front. It must be thoroughly washed (up to eight minutes,) then dried.

CAN CHANGE COLORS

After seeing the print, photographers can deliberately change the color balance or make color corrections to suit their own taste or creative urge by shifting the pointers on the color filter knobs.

The P-100 handles roll film color negatives from 35mm to 2¼" x 2¼". Color prints range from wallet size (2¼" x 3½") to 3½" inches square. One roll of print material produces 42 wallet size prints or 30 square ones. The color coupler emulsion is coated on a water-proof acetate base. The print material is spooled with a paper leader to provide daylight loading in the machine — like loading film in a camera.

The Pavelle process is a simplification and speeding up of present color chemistry. Standard color processing today may require 40 minutes at 75 degrees using five chemical solutions and four water washes. Pavelle scientists in England developed new nondiffusing color couplers and high speed sensitizers so that the process requires only two solutions and a single wash with the processing cycle down to three minutes.

At present only handmade prototypes exist, but with favorable trade acceptance, it is hoped the machines will be available for the public soon. Price: between $150 and $200 each. As for color quality, the prints I made with the Pavelle process were not as good as standard Kodacolor prints made with the same negatives. They were a bit yellowish, a little less sharp and less color brilliant. I was told the prints needed more washing and the machine required more critical lens adjustment to correct these faults.

DORSAL TO DORSAL CENSUS
SANDY HOOK, N. J. (AP) — The American Littoral Society counts its fish before they're caught.

The group numbers about 200 natural history enthusiasts of all ages who conduct a dorsal to dorsal census on the coastal fish population from Maine to Florida. All are capable skin divers who, in addition to enjoying themselves, provide the U. S. Department of the Interior with information on the quantity and habits of fish.

If you have to keep oven-fried chicken hot for tardy guests, turn the heat low and baste it occasionally with the melted butter or margarine in the pan.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
The Associated Press

If you think bringing up children requires patience just try raising orchids.

It takes an average of seven years from seed to blossom. But this hasn't discouraged hobbyists. More and more residents of Long Island, N. Y., for example, are reported growing them in their homes. There are a number of commercial growers on Long Island.

"Parent" plants are chosen carefully and a year later a million or more seeds are ready to come out of the pod.

In their natural state, the seeds blow far and wide. Perhaps 100 of them may survive, finding a suitable nook, such as the crevice of a tree in which rotted leaves are packed, to take root.

SEEDS LIKE DUST

In the greenhouse the seeds, looking like a handful of dust, are examined under a microscope. Those containing embryos are planted in bottles on the surface of agar, a pure, nourishing, jelly-like substance.

For a year, they remain in these bottles, getting their only air through a tiny glass straw inserted through the cork. The straw is stuffed with cotton and disinfected so that the minute amount of air that reaches the seed is sterile.

Eventually, a tiny white root descends into the agar, and later a leaf appears. At the end of the year, the half-inch-long plant is transplanted to a "community flower pot" with 50 to 100 other seedlings. Subsequently, each of the strongest seedlings will be transplanted to its own tiny flower pot, a "thumb-pot," one-inch in diameter.

NEED TRANSPLANTING

Periodic transplanting continues as the plant grows, and about six years later the first blossom appears.

All this time, great care has been taken to feed the plant and to control moisture and temperature.

When at long last the first blossom opens, it is quite possible the florist will destroy the plant because it does not come up to his standards.

Out of 1,000 plants only 20 may make the grade. On the other hand, there may be a wonderful batch of "children" — an outstanding crop — and the grower is well-rewarded for his patience.

The plants bloom once a year. Those that produce large blossoms will have only two or three blossoms. Those with smaller blossoms produce as many as 16 to 13 flowers on a long arching spike.

The life of an orchid plant is about 20 years, but many are destroyed sooner because the improvement in strains to produce bigger or better blooms outmoded some older types.

Kennedy Has Phone Line To London, Paris, Bonn; Eyes Direct Link With Khrushchev

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, by nature a fast man with a telephone call, already has direct lines to the leaders of Great Britain, France and West Germany.

Kennedy can pick up a phone and in seconds deliver orders via a global network linking the White House with key commands and top government officials, civilian and military.

In this age of emergency, he has recommended a system that could put him in immediate touch with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The United States proposed at the Geneva disarmament conference that rapid and reliable communications be set up among heads of government and the U.N. secretary general. The proposal was aimed at cutting the risk of war by accident, miscalculation or surprise attack.

"HOT LINE"

The plan wasn't specific, but there's no communications wrinkle the White House signal corps detachment hasn't considered at one time or another.

The "hot line," with outlets in Kennedy's office, living quarters and other undisclosed locations, is the crucial line through which he can issue crisis orders to military commands or take up urgent questions with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In case of attack, a word over this line could send nuclear-armed planes and missiles into action.

LINK WITH SAC

Much about the "hot line" is highly secret. It is known, however, that through control facilities at the Pentagon and elsewhere Kennedy can ring the "gold phone" at the Strategic Air Command's underground headquarters in Omaha and other command posts, simultaneously or one at a time.

The box holding the green phone in Kennedy's office has 18 buttons for local and long distance calls.

The President also can use this phone to call abroad, if he wishes, but the private lines to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer are separate.

Each line is protected by its own security device to keep the conversations secret.

Abbottstown

ABBOTTSTOWN

ABBOTTSTOWN — Forty-one members of the St. John Lutheran Church participated in the annual bus trip sponsored by the church last Saturday and visited Sherwood Gardens in Baltimore, various places in Washington, and Mt. Vernon, Va.

The annual father and son banquet will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the parish hall. The mother and daughter banquet will be held June 9 at 6 p.m. in the United Church of Christ.

Several members of the ULCW will attend the convention of the West Pennsylvania ULCW in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Carlisle. A program was presented by the local ULCW last Wednesday evening when Rev. Rodger Singer spoke on his experiences in Hong Kong.

A planning session for the community vacation church school was held in the United Church of Christ Tuesday evening.

A Rogate service will be held May 27 for the blessing of the seed and the soil.

A series of Bible study hours, "Courage To Care," opened Wednesday evening.

Articles of used clothing for overseas relief may be brought to the church by May 27.

The community Memorial Day observance will be held May 30. The parade will form at the Lutheran Church and move at 7 p.m.

J. S. Clark Dem Nominee For Senator

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark broke from his family's Republican tradition in 1928, and has since then followed a path that can best be described as liberal.

The 61-year-old Democrat, a strong backer of the Kennedy administration, has been in the forefront of such liberal causes as civil rights legislation, medical care for the aged, minimum wage laws, liberalizing social security benefits and depressed areas aid. A bit of maverick, Clark is a leader in a drive to make it easier to curb Senate filibusters.

Clark gave up the practice of law for politics. "You know I used to live practicing law, but after a while I discovered it had no spiritual reward. It was like a chess game and, sure, the challenge was there, but the kick wasn't," he said shortly after becoming Philadelphia mayor in 1952.

SON OF LAWYER

The son of a lawyer, and the scion of a wealthy family, Clark studied at Harvard, where he was sigma cum laude and was Phi Beta Kappa. He was then graduated from the University of Pennsylvania's Law School in 1926.

He practiced law until 1950, taking time out in 1947 to manage the unsuccessful mayor campaign of Richardson Dilworth. Since then the political fortunes of Dilworth and Clark have risen together.

In 1949, Clark was elected city controller and Dilworth won the job of city treasurer, the first substantial Democratic inroads in Republican city hall in many years.

Two years later Clark and Dilworth, vowing to "throw the rascals out," stepped up their sidewalk campaigns and Clark was elected mayor and Dilworth district attorney. Their election snapped a Republican hold on City Hall that had endured nearly 70 years.

DEFEATED DUFF

In 1956 Clark defeated incumbent Republican Sen. James H. Duff by 17,970 votes, a Democratic bright spot in the flood of support for Dwight D. Eisenhower who was running for president again.

That same year Dilworth was elected mayor and continued the reform movement started under Clark. This year the political fortunes of the two were joined again as Clark campaigned for Senate and Dilworth campaigned for governor.

Clark is married and has two children. During World War II he served with the Air Force and for a while was Air Force deputy chief of staff in the China-Burma-India Theater.

Clark not only has tangled with Republicans in his career, he has often been at odds with fellow Democrats—often the leaders.

In the 1956 campaign, Clark gave as the core of his political philosophy, "I believe it is the function of modern Democratic leadership to provide a floor below which misery will not be permitted to sink, and also to provide an environment in which the mind and spirit can flourish and rise to new heights of achievement."

RECORDING ARRANGEMENT

NEW YORK (AP) — An unusual arrangement has been worked out for the original cast recording of "No Strings," the new Richard Rodgers musical.

Instead of selling the disc rights to one of the record makers — the common practice — Rodgers has taken one of the firms into partnership. He will finance the cost of the recording. The company (Capitol) will handle the merchandising.

At least four concerns had sought the rights.
